Grandin Shopper's Park planning new complex

St. Albert's Municipal Planning Commission is presently considering a proposal by Grandin Shopper's Park Ltd. which would have the shopping centre double in size to 223,904 square feet. The proposal also includes 60 two bedroom apartments to be built just south of the ALCB Building on the shopping centre's west end.

The main components of the re-development are a 60 room hotel, and four storey office complex (which would be located adjacent to each other in the eastern section of the centre). The entire structure has been designed as a low profile complex which blends with the Grenadier Park ravine. Only 22 vertical feet of the hotel would be visible from Grosvenor Boulevard and that interface has been described by the St. Albert Planning Department as superior to the view afforded by the present structure.

Members of the MPC also heard that Grandin Shoppers Park Ltd. had given some indication that it would aid in the development of Grenadier Park, an area which is not in the city's budget for the immediate future.

The plan calls for demolition of the existing portion of the mall east of Macleod's as well as the north portion, excluding Firestone. The Shell service station will remain. West of Macleod's everything stays except for the space occupied by the bakery which becomes a south entrance to the mall in the proposal.

Most of the businesses now located in the section of the mall earmarked for demolition will be relocated in an early stage of the new construction to avoid as much inconvenience as possible.

Foundation established to preserve past

The Albert Lacombe Historical Foundation was recently formed to sponsor, establish and administer a museum complex in St. Albert.

The Foundation will be co-operating with other community agencies, including the local Historical Society and school boards, with a view to restoring and maintaining the history of St. Albert.

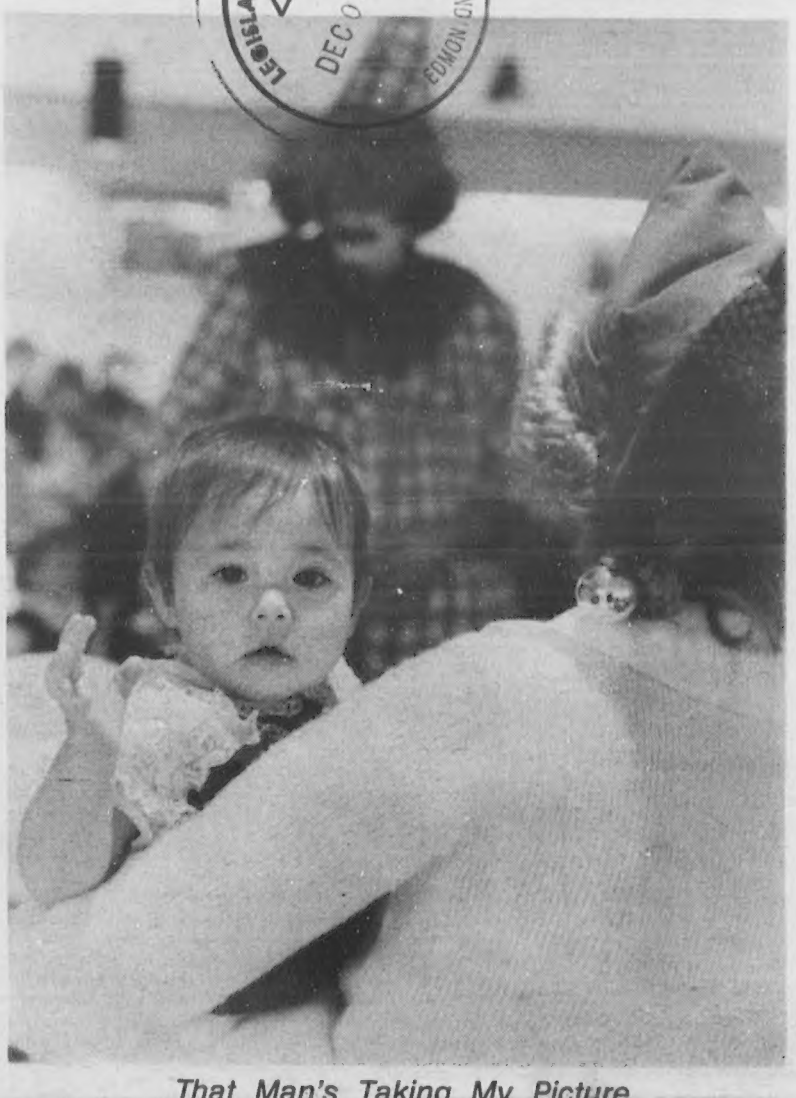

An interim slate of officers was appointed: Arlene Borgstede, president; Barry Breadner, vice president; Robert Byron, secretary and Gordon Unger, treasurer.

The first annual meeting is to be at the City of St. Albert City Hall Annex at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, December 6, 1978. Membership, while limited to 50 personnel, is open to residents of St. Albert and district who are 18 years of age and older.

The Foundation is primarily interested in preserving the Father Lacombe Museum, hopes to do something with Grandin House, and will work towards co-ordinating the activities of individuals and organizations interested in preserving the architecture and artifacts from St. Albert's past.

Shopping centre delayed till April, 1980

According to the latest projections of Abacus Cities, St. Albert will get its regional shopping centre by April of 1980. (According to a Gazette report of March 10, 1977, it was originally scheduled for completion by September of 1978). At Monday night's meeting of council, frustrated aldermen attempted to get some answers from representatives of the developers of the joint project, Abacus Cities and The Hudson Bay Company.

However, at least one key question regarding the delay went unanswered.

Derek Payne of Abacus Cities told council that although the shopping centre would go ahead as planned, there would be a delay in the completion. In summarizing the work completed to date, Mr. Payne said that the builders had concluded that a floating slab must be used under the shopping centre, which will be partially located over a sewage lagoon. He said working drawings have been completed, and a building permit issued. Storm sewers have been installed and 10,000 yards of "undesirable material" cleared from the lagoon, with fill substituted.

Members of council at this point seemed to be mentally wrinkling their noses as Mr. Payne told them the Safeway store would be located over the former lagoon. The clearing process took twice the time anticipated, said Mr. Payne. Pre-loading to provide a firmer base had been applied and instruments inserted in the ground to measure settling. He further stated that contracts had been awarded to four major contractors and the levelling of the main site initiated.

However, according to Mr. Payne, problems and delays occurred at this point with permanent and interim financing. He said the situation

Petition to decertify

CUPE settles with Sturgeon General

St. Albert CUPE Local 2147 will be holding a meeting tomorrow (Thursday) to discuss ratification of a new contract with the Alberta Hospital Association. The majority of workers will receive an 8.4% wage increase in the first year of a two year contract. The second year will be tied to the consumer price index. A spokesman for the Local says acceptance is likely.

The Local has withdrawn an earlier charge of electioneering levelled at the hospital due to a clause in the settlement. The clause states that 'the parties agree that any and all legal actions, statement of claims before the courts, and complaints before the Board of Industrial Relations by either party, which occurred as a consequence of this dispute will be discontinued or withdrawn."

PETITION

The Local has also been faced with a petition, now delivered to the Board of Industrial Relations, in which a group of CUPE workers are seeking decertification. The Board of Industrial Relations has not revealed whether the petition carries enough names for a simple majority. CUPE Local 2147 held a meeting November 28 to discuss the petition and are now preparing a defence according to CUPE spokesman, Bill Petrie, the chief hospital negotiator for the union says the action was probably was complicated by the joint venture nature of the project, as well as by spiralling interest rates that had risen as much as two percent. As a result, construction was stopped in early September until financing arrangements were straightened out.

By early November, this was achieved, with Canada Trust arranging the permanent financing and the Bank of Montreal the interim financing.

However, problems did not end here. By this time the frost was in the ground, a condition which prohibits the initiation of floating slab construction. Unlike conventional methods which go below the frost line, and are thus unaffected, the floating slab is a shallow method and the presence of frost in the ground can cause frost heave and slab failure.

GEOGRAPHY, GOOD; GEOTECHNICS, BAD!

At this juncture, Ald. Shields asked if the developers were not aware of these special conditions. Mr. Payne said they had been, but that the city and Abacus had decided this was the best geographical location for a shopping centre. Unfortunately, he said, it was also the worst geotechnical location in the city.

In response to a question from Ald. Margaret Smith as to the next step to be taken, Mr. Payne said the delay gave the developers time to produce a "model development." All financing, contracting, leasing and land transfer arrangements had been completed, and the frost presented the only delay now. He said work could begin in the spring, and should be completed by April 1980. He pointed out that the delay was costly to Abacus as well as to the city, which stands to lose several million dollars in taxes.

When asked by Mrs. Smith if the target date could be moved ahead in light of the delay, he said it would be impossible for the Bay and other fashion-oriented stores to do this as there are only two times of the year that such businesses can profitably open. However, he said the Safeway store might be able to open early.

The fact that the residential component of the project has reached completion did not escape the council. Mr. Payne said the council must not accept the idea that the town house development was the "plum" of the project. While he admitted they were profitable in the short term, he said the shopping centre was by far the most important of the two in the long run. He explained that construction of the town houses was a much simpler process, and that it had seemed "pointless" to hold up work on it because of delays to the shopping centre.

Speaking on behalf of the Hudson's Bay Company, Mr. Handelsman, who flew out from Toronto just for this meeting, said his firm had already been put to "tremendous inconvenience" by the delay. He said certain orders with a long lead time had already been placed, and this merchandise would have to be dispersed to other stores. Mr. Handelsman was quick to point out that the Hudson Bay Company had not signed an agreement to involve themselves in the joint venture until just a few weeks ago, a statement which would appear to remove the Bay from any association with the delays and problems. (While this is legally true, a Gazette article of May 25, 1977 noted that the Bay had given its blessing to the joint venture on May 20, 1977).

PENALTY CLAUSES

The possible invocation of penalty clauses against the developer was implied by Ald. Rod Throndson, who referred to 'certain safeguards' in the city's development agreement with Abacus. He then asked the developer if he anticipated any further delays. Mr. Payne said no, but added that uncontrollable factors such as strikes in the labour force could cause delay.

Ald. Liesbeth Bakker expressed her disapproval of the site's location saying it was a choice of the previous council, despite warnings that the shopping centre would retard the development of the downtown core. Mrs. Bakker termed the downtown "the heart of this community" and commented that the former council had reacted to public demand by approving the project. She told Mr. Payne that because of the affect on the downtown the developers had an "enormous responsibility" to complete the project as quickly as possible, to prevent further delay to downtown development.

Seeming to be on a similar wavelength to Ald. Throndson, Mrs. Bakker asked what would happen if the city took action on a clause in the development agreement which ties the provision of municipal services to progress on the project. Mr. Payne replied that this would be "financially disastrous" to his company. He said his company was aware of a clause in the agreement requiring the developers to compensate the city for tax losses incurred by the delay.

Mayor Ronald Harvey said he was "very disappointed" at the delay and commented he was surprised to hear that two companies like Abacus Cities and the Hudson's Bay Company could have difficulties with a line of credit. He stated Abacus could have done more during the summer months.

Ald. Shields added a lighter note to the proceedings, saying council did not wish to appear "like Cleopatra -- killing the messenger because we don't like the message."

Following the presentation, Jim Cullen and Mr. Wallace of Abugov and Sunderland, architectural engineers, and EBA Engineering, soils engineers respectively, explained the technical difficulties the site posed. Mr. Cullen explained that while winter construction was possible on a project like that of the senior citizens development, which involves the use of pilings below the frost line, it was a different situation with a floating slab.

KEY QUESTION UNANSWERED

The engineers were at a loss to explain the fact that more of this construction had not been undertaken in the summer. Ald. Throndson pointed out that the question put the engineers in an awkward position as they were not administrators, but engineers. Mr. Wallace confirmed this, saying that his firm had no control over delays. However, this question was not put again to Mr. Payne, and so a key point remains unanswered.

Council later decided there was no action that could be taken at this time, as the city would have to await further developments.

Riel Business Park popular

Just over half the lots in St. Albert's new business park on Riel Drive have now been sold with construction having commenced on three of them. Fred Anderson, general manager (Edmonton) of Jason Development Corporation Ltd., Riel Business Park developers, says the abundance of small lots has been the key to the sales success. Small businessmen who can't afford the costs involved with larger parcels like those available in almost all business parks in the Edmonton area have shown particular attraction to the St. Albert site.

Many of the buyers are St. Albert residents who previously could not find space or locations within the community to operate. Some St. Albert businesses will be relocating from premises they have outgrown or will outgrow as the city grows.

The buildings now under construction are: an office-warehouse totalling 19,000 square feet (to be leased to tenants by Allnine Investments); a 13,000 square foot shop for Demelco Electrical of St. Albert; and a 4,200 square foot shop which will locate R. Croft Plumbing and Heating.

When completed, Stage One of Riel Business Park will contribute taxes to the city coffers estimated at $300,000 per year. When Stage Two goes on stream (following city approval) the tax revenue will increase to $600,000.

Last year the city received $388,000 in non-residential tax revenue.

Legion makes $1,200 donations

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 271 President Ron Bull, 1st Vice President Ross Hutton and Manager Bob Enokson had the pleasant task of presenting cheques on November 29.

Mr. Wayne Agar, representing the Salvation Army, accepted a cheque for $1,000.

Mrs. Nielsen, representing the St. Albert Association for the Handicapped, accepted a cheque for $200.

Monies for the above were made possible by members of Branch 271 of The Royal Canadian Legion selling Pay What You Pull tickets.

Lions assist blind

The St. Albert Lions Club donated $2,000 to help the Canadian National Institute for the Blind continue their program of providing radio training for blind Albertans.

The monies will be used to purchase radio equipment which is rented out to blind trainees for a nominal annual fee.

The Northern Alberta Amateur Radio Club works with the CNIB in this project. Sighted radio operators are assigned a blind trainee. Blind personnel progress throughout a carefully structured radio program and eventually qualify for the Government of Canada, Department of Communications examinations.

Some special adaptations are necessary to enable the blind operators to function. For example a special audible tone is built into the radio so the blind operator can "read" out the correct frequency.

Amateur radio operators learn much about the world around them through their contact with other "hams." The amateur performs a valuable function in times of emergency and assists in establishing communications networks for police, Red Cross and other agencies.

The monies raised by the St. Albert Lions Club motor home raffle will be used to help five blind operators in their eight month long course.

Marj Davis passes - services Thursday

Marjorie Davis died peacefully, in her sleep, sometime Sunday evening, December 3, 1978, just 34 days after a heart attack had claimed the life of her husband, Dave.

She had accepted an invitation to spend the night at the home of longtime good friends, Ray and Eileen Gibbon, and it was Eileen who first learned of her death when she went to call Marj for breakfast Monday morning.

Mrs. Davis had been quite seriously ill for some time with a kidney ailment. She was 57 years old.

The Reverend Len Musto of St. Albert United Church will conduct funeral services at four o'clock Thursday at the Chapel of Chimes in Edmonton. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, St. Albert Branch #271, will form a Guard of Honour and participate in the service. Following cremation the ashes will be interred in the same plot with Mr. Davis in Holy Cross Cemetery. After the service luncheon will be served in the Legion Hall by members of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

Marjorie Burns was one of twin daughters born to Mr. and Mrs. John Burns in Shaunavon, Saskatchewan in 1921. Later the family, including twin Muriel and an older sister, Betty, moved to Regina, where Marj took most of her schooling.

Shortly after the war she moved to Edmonton to take a job with the Pat Burns packing firm where she worked for many years before joining the staff of Shell Oil Company in Edmonton. She married Erwin A. Davis in Edmonton in May of 1948.

The couple moved to St. Albert in 1962 and both enjoyed the smaller centre and took great interest in all forms of community activities and events. Marj served for a time on the St. Albert Preventive Social Services Committee, and was an active member of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion. After she quit working she joined the Sturgeon Ladies Golf Club and enjoyed the game tremendously, serving also on the executive as social convenor.

Marj was an excellent cook and loved to have friends in for meals. She was always interested in new recipes and ideas for preparing special meals. She was also an avid reader and closely followed politics and current events.

Both Mrs. Davis and her husband took a keen interest in doing everything possible to help seriously retarded children. They were members of the first Parents Group Association for the Red Deer School Hospital and later the Eric Cormack Centre. Mrs. Davis spent much thought and time on how the lives of these children could be made more happy, and enlisted the help of the St. Albert Kinettes in providing extra equipment for the Cormack Centre.

Of a cheerful disposition, Marj Davis was essentially kind and honest, and also prepared to take a strong stand for what she felt was right. She was a good neighbour and trustworthy friend to all who knew her, and will be sadly missed in the community, and by her closely-knit family.

She is survived by her daughter, Linda; two sisters: Betty Wyles of Vancouver and Muriel Wilson of Regina; two nieces, Louise Frederick, Vancouver, and Joanne Johnson, in Germany; and one nephew, Laird Wilson.

Ottawa wins top squadron

St. Albert Squadron runner up this year

The Air Cadet League of Canada has announced that its top squadron award for 1978 has been won by 51 Squadron, Ottawa, Ontario, sponsored by the Optimist Club of Ottawa. The Ottawa squadron has been selected as the winner of the RCAF Association Trophy, awarded annually to the Air Cadet squadron assessed as the "most proficient" in Canada.

The 533 (St. Albert) Squadron, last year's top Canadian squadron, was runner-up this year, winning the Air Cadet League Sword of Honour.

The award is based on an assessment of all 400 Air Cadet squadrons, made by visiting officers of the Canadian Forces and officials of the Air Cadet League. Final judging is carried out by the League's National Awards Committee which met in Ottawa last week and compared reports on the top squadrons from each of the 10 provinces, Yukon and Northwest Territories.

The Commanding Officer of No. 51 (Ottawa Optimist) Squadron is Major Leo Lanthier and Mr. A. E. Percival is chairman of the Sponsoring Committee.

CANADIAN CONTROLS

A Guest Editorial from the Washington Post

As the United States heads into another experiment with wage and price guidelines, Canada is emerging from three years of mandatory controls. Since controls remain very much a topic of conversation here in Washington, despite President Carter's best efforts to rule them out of consideration, the Canadian experience invites attention. The Canadian controls were fairly successful, as these things go. From that, you can draw several conclusions.

The first conclusion is that it helps to be lucky. The controls went into effect at a moment that turned out to have been a very good one. Because of highly expansive public policy, by late 1975 the Canadian inflation rate was a roaring 11 percent. A spirit of loony recklessness had seized a large part of the labor movement, and first-year increases in wage settlements were averaging 20 percent. When the controls arrived, they put sharp limits on wage negotiations. But, by a happy coincidence, food prices were falling, and the exchange value of the Canadian dollar was rising, making imports cheaper. Working people's purchasing power rose, and the controls were off to a good start.

But as it usually happens in these matters, the good luck expired before the controls. In the second year of the program, food prices began rising, the Canadian dollar fell dramatically, and higher fuel costs kept hitting consumers. Now, at the end of the three years, wage increases are running very close to the target level of six percent a year. But consumer prices, which were supposed to be rising no more than four percent a year by this time, will be up about 10 percent this year.

That leads to the second conclusion: Yes, just as George Meany and the AFL-CIO have been telling us, it's a lot easier to control wages than prices. It doesn't necessarily mean that controls were good for business profits and bad for working people. The Canadian price controls froze businessmen's margins, both gross and net, over their bitter objections. Meanwhile, the controllers argue, the wage restraints held down labor costs in a time of slack economic growth, which in turn kept employment higher than it would otherwise have been. There you have the strongest and most substantial justification of these controls—that they provided a shock absorber as government policy deliberately slowed economic growth.

But that's rather subtle and abstruse argument. Most Canadians see only that their food bills and heating bills keep going up, controls or not. That erodes political support for the controls programs, and for the government that imposed it. It's a point that deserves careful consideration by those Americans who want to try mandatory controls again here.

Over the past two years, Canadian prices have been driven up by exactly the same three forces that are driving up US prices now—rising food costs, rising energy costs and a falling dollar. All three of these forces are generated by international markets. None of them is subject to any government's controls.

There you have a third conclusion: The success of any controls program, as consumers and voters see it, will depend crucially on international influences that lie beyond that nation's reach. With that huge qualification, Canada's controls seem to have helped. The main danger there three weeks ago was wildly increasing wages, and that pattern has been greatly changed. But wages, and union pressure, are not leading the inflation in the United States. There is not much in the Canadian experience to induce Americans to resort to the same remedy here.

Council Briefs

Lions Field House OK'ed in principle

At its regular meeting Monday night, city council gave approval in principle to the proposed Lions Club Field House. The approval is subject to a choice of site suitable to the Lions, the City and the District 6 School Board.

Council gave second and third reading to Bylaw 34/78, authorizing the issuance of debentures for the installation of storm sewers and the relocating of power, gas and telephone distribution on Riel Drive. Another Bylaw 35/78 for roads, curbs, gutters and street lighting on the same street also passed second and third reading.

A bylaw to amend the land use designation of the controversial Shell property in Forest Lawn passed third reading. The bylaw redesignates the property from Special Study area to Neighbourhood Residential and General Commercial.

Bylaw 42/78, a bylaw to authorize the issuance of debentures for three buses passed first reading.

Council moved that the deadline for the Citizens Committee report on Compensation of elected city officials be extended.

Swine testing progress

Canada's hogs are about 20 percent leaner than they were a decade ago. Some of the improvement is due to better feeding and management practices. But most of the gain is credited to genetic improvement in breeding stock.

Agriculture Canada and the provincial governments help hog producers pick top-producing swine through the Record of Performance program.

Boars are evaluated at eight test stations across the country and compared for leanness, feed conversion efficiency and the time it takes them to reach a weight of 90 kilograms. Last year, more than 3,000 boars were tested. The average pig tested required 45 kilograms less feed to reach market weight last year than in 1968.

Report proposes schedule for construction of roads

The developers of Woodlands who by now must be eligible for permanent status on city council agendas, once again appeared before council at the regular Monday night meeting. Council invited representatives of Carma Developers to present their report on the development of roadways in the southeast sector of the city. The firm had commissioned the report as part of the development agreement with the city for the Woodlands project. Appearing before council was Mr. Cope of Carma, and Mr. R. P. Triffo of Stanley Associates Engineering Ltd., the firm commissioned to do the study.

Mr. Cope reported that the surface work to the first stage of the Woodlands project was complete and the power is currently going in. Underground work is completed and work on housing is expected to start soon. It is anticipated that homes will be on the market by Summer of 1980.

In speaking of the report, Mr. Cope said that it had a dual objective: that of fulfilling Carma's part of the development agreement, and to support approval for the next stage of the development.

The report presented by Mr. Triffo came to several conclusions, based on different scenarios for road development.

The population in the southeast sector is 11,681, according to the report. It points out that without the 149-156 street link, the critical intersection governing traffic movements in and out of this sector is Hebert Road and the St. Albert Trail. The report maintains that even when the population of the southeast sector reaches 16,500 existing streets would still be adequate to accommodate traffic, without the 149-156 street link. If Gervais Road and 170 street are improved, the report states that even a population of 20,000 in the southeast sector could be accommodated without the 149-156 street arterial. The report notes that the full impact of the Woodlands and Pineview Phase 1 neighbourhoods will not be fully realized until 1980. These projects will add 3,500 persons to the southeast sector.

LINK NEEDED BY 1980

Working on the assumption that Phases 5 and 6 of Akinsdale will materialize on schedule in 1979 and 1980, the report states that the 149-156 street arterial will be needed by the end of 1980. This demand will be created by the extra populations from Woodlands, Pineview and Akinsdale. This scenario, however, assumes no material improvement to 170 street.

The report concludes that the construction of the 149-156 street arterial between St. Albert's south east sector and 137 avenue will benefit the new neighbourhoods, the Campbell Industrial Park and existing residential areas. Design and construction of the 149-156 street route is slated for 1979-80, but the time required for land acquisition will determine when the road will be finished.

The report looked beyond the impact of new neighbourhoods under construction and also assessed the effects of population from Woodlands Stage 2, which has yet to be approved. The authors foresee the impact of this neighbourhood making itself felt by mid-1980 and during 1981 and 1982. There is not expected to be a demand on roads from employees at the Campbell Industrial Park until 1980. Thus the reports concludes that with the planned implementation of 149-156 street route by 1980, the traffic demands in the year 1980 will be easily accommodated. It goes on to say that if the 149-156 street route is constructed to two lanes, it will be adequate until 1983. It would then require widening to four lanes.

In its recommendations, the report suggests the city should start now to appeal to various agencies for an east St. Albert arterial. This would involve an extension of 149 street to the potential alignment of an east St. Albert arterial, with that arterial constructed back to 153 avenue. It states further that discussions should also be held with officials to encourage the early extension of 153 avenue between the proposed 149-156 street link and the 127 street in Edmonton.

In relation to the controversial funding formula for the 149-156 street route, Ald. Smith inquired if Carma would consider paying a part of St. Albert's portion of the road through the RDA. She stated that it is Carma's development that is generating "a good amount of the traffic." Mr. Cope responded that his firm would be willing to discuss cost sharing immediately.

Very interesting

Most Braille has been created on an emboss or pierce system, to provide books and periodicals for the blind, but Japan seems to be the first to come up with a system of Braille printing on both sides of the sheet without punching ... The system concept was investigated by a young couple in Canada a year-or-so-ago (this editor discussed its possibilities with them at some length), but no commercial use seems to have been made of the research in Canada yet ... Basically the Toppan Printing Co. makes metal printing plates from a punched tape input to hole punch the plates, which are then attached to screens, using these plates instead of silk or nylon ... The ink used is a thermographic foaming ink which reacts to heat drying and hardens in a raised surface, not unlike embossing or piercing ... The cost is said to be lower than the old system and has an ease which could permit many more printers to enter a service to the world's sightless people.

Brief tells of inaccessible buildings, lack of programs

"Don't Help Us Out -- Help Us In!" This slogan was the central theme of a presentation made to city council Monday night by the St. Albert Association for the Handicapped. The Association appeared to present a brief on the needs of the handicapped in St. Albert. Representing the association were Eyla Rogers, William Lukasiewich and Ron Yeats.

In presenting their report the members pointed out that a handicapped person cannot even buy a postage stamp in St. Albert. Someone else must do it for them, as access to the Post Office is impossible for those in wheelchairs. [The inaccessibility of public buildings was emphasized when the association members entered the Town Annex itself for the meeting. The party encountered back-breaking challenges in getting one of their members up the stairs and through the door for the council meeting]. The association's brief specifically named the post office, the Akinsdale Clubhouse and Appleyard Square shopping centre in Akinsdale as a few of the local facilities to which the handicapped are denied access.

The brief noted that through the efforts of the association, improvements had been made to the Fountain Park Pool, although the structural plans made full accessibility impossible. However, the group noted that the law requires accessibility to facilities, and said the handicapped should not have to come "cup in hand" to have these changes made.

The association's brief makes the point that if the city is operating on a building bylaw based on the National Building Code, the matter of access should fall to the city's technical staff. It also points out that citizens other than the handicapped are affected by obstacles to access, such as those pushing baby carriages or shopping carts; senior citizens requiring assistance and those temporarily disabled.

NEARLY 400 CHILDREN BUSED

The lack of programs for the handicapped was also a concern outlined in the brief. The report estimates that nearly 400 St. Albert children are bused into Edmonton to programs held at the Glenrose Hospital, Winnifred Stewart School and other centres. The association asked that the council support their fight for high quality programming which would be 100% funded for school age children.

The necessity of early intervention in the lives of handicapped children is stressed in the brief. As an example of an organization moving in the right direction, the St. Albert Day Care Centre was cited for its integration of handicapped children with other children. However, many handicapped children are not able to be placed in such a program and have to go elsewhere. However, while the day care centre is financially supported by the city, the programs for these other handicapped children are not.

A major concern of the association lies in transportation. While Edmonton has the DATS buses available for the handicapped, this service does not extend beyond Edmonton city limits. The group feels a provincial subsidy would permit the extension of this service to St. Albert. They also point out a confusion in responsibility for the transportation of handicapped children to school. Because these children are transferred out of the jurisdiction of St. Albert school board, no-one is certain who is responsible for transportation -- the St. Albert boards, the Edmonton Boards, or the parents. A lack of qualified bus drivers further complicates the issue. In its recommendations, the association recommends that special transportation services for the Handicapped be co-ordinated throughout Edmonton. Such a service would serve both adults and children and it is suggested funding be split between the province and local government and/or school boards. The association stresses that they seek equality of access, not the adaptation of services and facilities used by everyone. This means in some cases, such as transportation, there would be separate but equal systems.

In connection with services, the association asks the city's support in the effect to obtain broadened services to the handicapped. Any handicap produces strain, and the group points out that alleviating such strain before a family crisis erupts is desirable. The brief suggests this might mean more counselling, a crisis relief centre, broadening of the Help Society programs, a training program for "sitters." They also request a liaison with the Home Care Program. The association will be printing a brochure outlining services for the handicapped here.

CITY STAFF COMMENDED

The report commended Lois Shaw and Helen Durand of the Community Services department, who run a youth leadership program and provide outings for handicapped children, as well as Fountain Park Pool staff Sandra Harding and Brian Sullivan for their efforts for the Handicapped Fun Swim.

In regard to other social and recreational needs, the report stressed that segregated programs are not always necessary, as the handicapped could integrate with others successfully in a number of these programs.

In presenting the brief, the Association members made several observation about the limitations of St. Albert for the Handicapped. While new areas have been built with more concern for these needs, older areas can be an exercise in frustration for the handicapped. The downtown area is particularly difficult and in the words of William Lukasiewich, the handicapped are forced to be "back door people," using the back doors of businesses as the only accessible entrances. Curbs downtown are not lowered at corners, and although one large downtown office building has a ramp at the front for wheelchairs, it is steep and becomes icy when not cleared off in the winter, making access by wheelchair a dangerous process.

As a result of the presentation, council decided to refer the question of accessibility to buildings to MPC, to be considered in its discussion of the Land Use Bylaw.

Several motions by Ald. Bakker relating to the needs of the handicapped will be discussed at the council's first meeting in January.

The thrift game

By Margarette J. Atkinson

Sew a strong piece of material like a tube, about eight inches or so across, by 1½ feet long. Now slip two bleach or "sealed" Downy bottles (capped tightly) into this "tube." Stitch the centre with two seams about two inches apart. Now sew up the ends. You've got a dandy pair of water wings for your child.

BOOT TOP HOLDERS

Those old worn rubber boot tops when sealed at the ankle part can be very strong pockets. When tacked on to the garage, shop or basement wall. To hold the hammers, wrenches or other tools. The good "ground gripping" soles of these boots, when tacked onto a square of thick plywood make an ideal (muddy feet scraper) outdoors.

AP-PEALING FERTILIZER

Never throw apple peels or cores away. Dig them into your potted plants. I've got giant plants in my home from this.

RECYCLED SOCKS

Old elasticized sock tops (when the stock feet are worn out) make ideal cuffs for snow-suits, or jacket sleeves. For everyone.

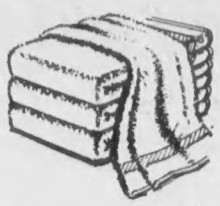

ARTIFICIAL GREENERY

If allergies rule out houseplants in your home, yet you wish to have some sort of greenery there is an answer for you. Drill holes in a thin birch trunk or some other tree trunk. Insert artificial branches of greenery. Add plastic flowers, berriers or other vines and have a fling at being original.

EMERGENCY KIT

I still send my emergency kit with my husband during winter months. This contains -- Candles; a tin or jar of matches; empty soup tins or some "heavy glass" jars (which make ideal candle holders). These emit enough light to show there are people in the stuck vehicle. These candles also keep out frost. Also included are flares; a hatchet; dry paper to make a small fire; and extra clothing and boots (in case).

Shopper's Park planning new complex apartments will increase the parking capacity to 984 vehicles from the present 350.

The apartments to be constructed above the underground facility would provide revenue to the developer to cover the cost of constructing the parking lot. They have been designed to appeal to young married couples and singles who would likely be working in St. Albert and in need of accommodation. Mr. Wayne Krygier of R.R. 1 St. Albert, owner of the shopping centre, pointed out that with the influx of new business an increased demand for this type of accommodation would arise. The apartment blocks (two) are set on a stagger facing the ravine and would only be partially visible from nearby Gresham Boulevard.

Mr. Krygier said similar logic also applied to the construction of the office complex which would house accountants, lawyers, etc. moving to St. Albert to serve the growing business community, including the Provincial Court House now under construction in the downtown core.

Traffic flow into and around the shopping centre will also be altered to a more efficient pattern. Some entrances will be closed and a main entrance opened across from the entrance to City Hall. Parking stalls will be realigned to a north-south direction. Grandin Shopper's Park feels this will eliminate the difficulty of parking up (or down) hill during icy winter conditions. The general parking plan has been co-ordinated with the main 'anchors' (Safeway and the liquor store in the west and the hotel and office complex in the east) to provide balance and convenient access to the complex itself.

Actual retail space in the proposal will exceed the existing amount by 12,674 square feet to bring the total to 123,674 square feet. Mr. Krygier told the Gazette that the retail shops would be of the specialty variety and that no major department store would be included. The retail portion will occupy the lower level of the entire complex.

Perhaps the most interesting part of the re-development is the hotel. Mr. Krygier, who presently owns five hotels, said it would be of a quality comparable to Holiday Inn with actual hotel rooms on the top floor only. The other levels would house restaurants, lounges, meeting rooms and retail stores. The main entrance would be from the top level of the parkade on the hotel's eastern side. A garden court, with fountain and trees will be the centrepiece of the concourse level in the hotel, and will be open (similar to Kingsway Garden Mall) to the mezzanine level.

If and when approval is given to the re-development proposal it will be 18 months to completion. Mr. Krygier is hopeful that approval will be given by February of 1979 in order that construction can be completed close to the time the new regional shopping centre is completed.

Speaking with the Gazette Saturday Mr. Krygier said his re-development proposal was put together with the development of St. Albert's downtown core in mind. He said it should give other developers an incentive to come forward with other projects in the area; all of which will help ease St. Albert's residential tax burden by increasing the commercial share.

In addition to an increase of $156,000 in tax revenue the re-development of Grandin Shopper's Park is expected to create 275 new jobs. At present tax revenue coming out of Grandin Shopper's Park amounts to $94,000 and 300 persons are employed there.

PUBLIC INFO MEETING

MPC has asked that Grandin Shoppers Park hold a public information meeting to gather input from residents of St. Albert. The meeting will be held tomorrow at 7:30 in the Club Mocombo and Grandin Shoppers Park hopes to be back to MPC by next Tuesday with the results.

MPC CHECKING LEGAL STATUS OF PARCEL

MPC is also seeking legal advice on the status of a 2.2 acre site slated as the location of the underground parking lot and apartments. The parcel was originally zoned commercial and received Park designation in 1964 as part of a land dedication when the residential area south of the shopping centre was being developed. A legal hassle resulted between the developer, St. Albert Development Ltd., and the town. In 1968 the courts returned the parcel to St. Albert Developments but the zoning remained Park. Three years later the shopping centre, including the parcel in question, changed hands and came into possession of the present owners. In 1971 the town council gave first reading to a rezoning bylaw which would have given the parcel commercial zoning once more but the bylaw never received second and third reading.

Private individuals are not allowed under provincial law to own parkland and the old Municipal Government Act (in effect at that time) states that a municipality must purchase any land zoned park within six months of the rezoning. The purchase never took place and Grandin Shopper's Park has title to the land. This is the legal status of which MPC is seeking clarification.

Members of the MPC agreed November 28 that the proposal had considerable merit and asked that administration define the areas of concern in an expeditious manner which would indicate MPC would like to see the matter clarified and brought before the committee as soon as possible.

Citizens who wish to examine the proposal first hand are reminded to attend the public information meeting tomorrow.

Steps to Shopping Centre approval

The General Plan must be amended to change a section on page 59 which states that "Grandin Shoppers Park will not be encouraged to expand beyond its present boundaries." This will require a public hearing.

A parking ratio must be set for the complex.

The parcel zoned park must be rezoned and a public hearing is required for this.

A development agreement would be the final step before construction would begin.

Cubs, Beavers to sell Christmas trees

The St. Albert Cubs, Scouts and Beavers are getting ready for Christmas. Entering into the Christmas spirit and beginning preparations for this special season, the various groups of boys are setting up their yuletide projects.

The First St. Albert Cubs and Beavers group is holding their annual Christmas tree sale in Lion's Park commencing December 9 and running until December 20. The tree lot will be open from 6 to 9 on weekdays and 9 to 9 Saturdays and from 1 to 5 Sundays.

This project raises the funds needed to subsidize the varied activities throughout the year and with the co-operation of the parents of the boys and the support of the community this sale is a fun and rewarding time for all.

The trees are ordered, delivered, unloaded and set up by the parents who volunteer their time and the Parent's Group Committee who oversee the operation. This sale has been very successful in the past and the committee advises all those wishing to purchase a spruce or pine tree to buy their tree early and avoid possible disappointment.

CANDLE SALE

The Sixth St. Albert Salvation Army Pack are this year selling scented candles before Christmas. The boys are selling the attractive crystalline candles to friends and neighbours presently and will offer their remaining candles for sale at Grandin Mall Thursday and Friday evenings and all day Saturday, December 7, 8 and 9.

Please support your community youth groups this Christmas and encourage them in their individual and group efforts.

Participate in Canada's Employment Tax Credit Program.

The Employment Tax Credit Program was introduced by the Government of Canada to stimulate employment in the private sector.

In essence, we're encouraging you to expand your work force by providing a tax break for your business.

The potential annual tax credit for each new employee is over $3,000. And there is no limit to the number of new employees you can hire.

Now, by using the experience we've gained so far, we've changed the program to make it even more attractive.

Up to 33⅓% more tax credit.

The maximum term for the tax credit has been increased from nine to 12 months for each new employee. That means up to 33⅓% more tax credit.

Greater eligibility.

We have expanded the number and types of businesses eligible to benefit. Now almost every business that's been operating in Canada for a year or more can join in.

Wider choice of new employees.

Now, almost anyone who's unemployed and registered at a Canada Employment Centre for a minimum of two weeks is eligible.

A minimum of red tape.

We've simplified the procedure, so you can do the whole thing, from beginning to end, with just two single-page forms.

For full details on the program, contact any Canada Employment Centre/ Canada Manpower Centre.

EMPLOYERS: CAN YOU IGNORE A POSSIBLE TAX CREDIT OF $3,000 OR MORE?

Santa visits the Legion

A portly gentleman in a scarlet suit paid a visit to the St. Albert Legion last Sunday to the delight of the 115 children in attendance. Old Saint Nick dropped by the Tache Street facility to pay a call on Legion members and their children on the occasion of the branch's second annual Breakfast with Santa.

Including the kids, 260 people gathered for the popular event, which attracts increasing numbers each year it is held. The festive spirit predominated as volunteers pitched in to produce a staggering amount of hot cakes, sausages, eggs, juice and coffee. A trio of clowns, who were in reality Darlene Osburne, Dave Goodmanson and Ken Libbey entertained everyone with their antics. The kids were all delighted with the Christmas stockings Santa brought forth from his pack, as well as the gifts he distributed.

All those in attendance extend a heartfelt thank you to Phil Stefiuk, to whom fell the Herculean task of coordinating the volunteer effort, right down to the last sausage. Phil did a superlative job!

EARLY BIRD DRAW

Another feature of the Breakfast with Santa was the Early Bird Draw for a raffle by the Associates Club 271 of the Royal Canadian Legion. A succulent ham was won by ticket #0005, held by Jillian Jones of St. Albert, while the giant turkey went to ticket #04219, held by Mona Massner of Morinville.

The Big Draw will be held Saturday, December 30 for which the prizes will be a side of beef, a side of pork and a turkey.

initiated by the employer in retaliation against CUPE for the electioneering charge the Local laid against hospital management.

GRIEVANCE

The Gazette has learned that an initial step has been taken in a grievance procedure involving a "provoked" resignation of a CUPE employee at the hospital. A CUPE official has acknowledged the situation and told the Gazette that the employees supervisor has stated there was no grievance. A further step (taking the matter to the hospital administrator) has now been initiated.

Christmas means plenty of sweetmeats and nuts. To shell nuts so they emerge intact from the shell, soak them overnight in salted water before cracking them.

Seniors to compete in Games

Max G. Gibb, managing director of the Alberta Games Council announced at the Olympyx 60+ Awards Night that the 1979 Alberta Summer Games, being held August 2 - 6 in St. Albert, will be the first time an age group for Masters, age 60 plus, has been included in the Games.

Over 100 seniors 60+ will be competing in golf and horseshoe pitching. In addition, seniors are welcome to become involved in the cultural activities along with open age categories of archery, canoeing, equestrian, shooting, tennis (over 41 years of age) and team pentathalon.

Golf will have a mens division and a ladies division with a team of four players for each -- and, a team from each of Alberta's eight zones.

Horseshoe pitching will be restricted to men with two singles and one doubles team from each zone; with an open age category in the ladies event.

Altogether there will be 18 sports with 3,000 athletes competing in St. Albert.

"Our primary objective is to involve everyone in some form of physical activity and this is only the beginning for the Masters category," said Gibb. "It is expected that other activities exclusively for the Masters will be announced in the next few months."

Canada Council to distribute book kits

The Canada Council has announced that it will distribute 580 free book kits of 200 titles each in 1979. Approximately 330 kits will be made up of English language books, and 250 of French language books. From these, bilingual kits of 100 titles in each language may be made up on request. The books were purchased by the Council from publishers eligible under its aid to publishing program.

In Canada the books will be made available through a competition to institutions, groups or organizations that do not have the money to buy books themselves and agree to make the books available for use in the community. In other countries distribution to universities, cultural centres and other institutions will be handled by the Department of External Affairs.

Since the Council's book donation program was started in 1972, recipients of the kits have included school libraries in remote areas, homes for the aged, hospitals, cultural centres, voluntary charitable associations and prisons. This year the Council has spent $700,000 on the program.

Two selection committees chose books from the catalogues of 94 English language and 50 French language publishers. Each committee includes a bookseller, a literary critic, a librarian and a writer. The English language jury this year was composed of Charles Burchell, Sheila Fischman, Ronald Yeo and Leo Simpson. The French language jury was made up of Louise Roy-Fortier, Marcel Belanger, Marielle Durand and Pierre Nepveu.

The choice of books is varied, ranging from novels, essays and poetry collections to works on history, politics, fine arts and ecology. Some titles: The Garden of Delights by Roch Carrier, Gabriel Dumont by George Woodcock, John A. MacDonald by Donald Creighton and The White Eskimo by Harold Horwood

Groups or organizations that wish to apply for a book kit in this annual competition should write to the Writing and Publication Section of the Council. Application forms must be returned to the Council before January 31, 1979

McClung House is historic resource

A Calgary house, once the residence of Nellie McClung, well known political figure, authoress, and early champion of women's rights, has been designated a Provincial Historic Resource, announced Horst A. Schmid, minister of culture.

The house, at 803 - 15th Avenue S.W., was constructed around 1910. Mrs. McClung resided in it from 1923 to 1935, the years in which she achieved some of her more notable political and literary successes.

Originally from Manitoba, Mrs. McClung was instrumental in gaining the vote for women there. The McClung family moved to Edmonton in 1914, where Nellie continued her cause. She became a member of the Legislative Assembly from 1921 to 1926, commuting from Calgary for the last three years of her elected position.

Included among her many accomplishments, were her membership as the only woman on the Dominion War Council and representation as Canada's only delegate to the league of Nations, both in 1918. In 1929, she was one of the "Valiant Five" who brought about the legal recognition, by the British Privy Council, of women as persons. In 1936, Mrs. McClung was appointed the first woman on the CBC board of governors.

Last year the Province designated the home of another leading Albertan woman - Emily Murphy. The home of this renowned author, police magistrate and champion of women's rights is now owned by the University of Alberta and used as a student co-operative residence.

Air Cadets in Review
St. Albert R.C.A. C Squadron No. 533

The Provincial Chairman of the Air Cadet League, Mr. Jack Yuill, was an unexpected visitor to #533 RC(AIR)C last Thursday evening. It was a pleasant surprise to have him drop in and meet the officers and staff. Mr. Yuill was escorted around #533's facilities by OC Armstrong, who showed him the training areas and some of the classes in progress. Mr. Yuill also had the opportunity to look around the administration and supply areas.

One of the required subjects for any cadet with a flying scholarship in mind is aero-engine. A new instructor has joined us in this field this year, though he is not new to the squadron. Mr. Roy Gilham is an ex-cadet of #533, with three years of cadeting to his credit. He was an active member, partaking of all #533 had to offer. Mr. Gilham is best remembered as "Chief Cook" on our Camp Wright exercises. He is presently a first year student at NAIT, taking a two year course in architectural technology. Mr. Gilham has also been a member of the Reserves for the past three years and resides in Edmonton. We at #533 are pleased to have Mr. Gilham as part of our squadron.

Band, drill team practices and sports were held as usual on their respective evenings with very good turnouts in all areas.

Information on joining #533 Squadron can be obtained at the Community Hall Thursday evenings at 07:00 p.m.

CUSO officer speaks: Papua: nation of many paradoxes

Papua New Guinea is a South Pacific nation which can boast 700 different languages and where space-age technology has arrived in the last 40 years among an indigenous people. Many communities have phones with international dialing via satellite, but no village water supply. There is tribal fighting with bows and arrows among people who knew airliner travel before they ever saw a land vehicle. And the government gives legislation recognition to witch-doctors at the same time as it commissions international consortiums to remodel the geography of an entire river system.

This is a Commonwealth country, yet little is heard of it in the Western world.

CUSO (the Canadian University Service Overseas) has had volunteers in Papua New Guinea for a number of years -- doctors, dentists, teachers, mechanics, agriculturists, public health nurses, technicians and tradespeople.

CUSO's senior field staff officer in Papua New Guinea, Chris Bryant, is at present on a tour of Canada describing the country, its customs and the CUSO program there. He will be in your area during this tour (his itinerary is attached) and will be pleased to meet with you.

Chris, 34, was born in Halifax, N.S., received his B.A. from McGill in 1965 and his master's degree from Harvard in 1968. He was a CUSO volunteer teacher on the Caribbean island of Granada from 1965 to 1967, and spent a further year as vice principal of a college there.

From 1969 to 1973 he was CUSO field staff officer for the Caribbean and lived in Jamaica, and was then appointed regional field director. He served as director of CUSO's Human Resources Division at the Ottawa secretariat from 1974 to 1977 when he returned to the field as senior field staff officer in Papua New Guinea.

For more information and to set up interview appointments, please contact: Lily Mah-Sen, CUSO Office, 240 Athabasca Hall, University of Alberta, Edmonton Atla. T6G 2E8, Ph. 432-3381.

International Affairs Seminar in 25th year

This fall the Seminar on the United Nations and International Affairs is celebrating its 25th year of operation in Alberta.

Since 1953, approximately 4000 Grade 11 students from schools throughout the province and the Northwest Territories have participated in the Seminar.

The Seminar was held at the Banff Centre until 1975, when it moved to its present location at the Goldeye Lake Centre near Nordegg. At its inception, the program dealt exclusively with the role and operation of the United Nations. Since then, it has broadened its scope to deal with a wide range of international issues.

Students attending the Seminar are selected by their Social Studies teachers on the basis of their interest in international affairs and their academic capabilities. The two one-week sessions, held at the end of August each year, offer a wide variety of formal and informal academic experiences. Each week culminates in a model Security Council session, simulating the complex and sometimes frustrating world of United Nations diplomacy.

The program also offers the opportunity for students to come into contact with others of similar age and interests from all over the province. This is aided by the active recreational program afforded by the Goldeye Lake setting. The Seminar is operated by a volunteer counselling staff, all of whom are former students who have seen value in continued association with the Seminar.

For further information, please contact Kevin Taft, at 434-5150.

To discuss wind generated electricity

The next public meeting of the Solar Energy Society will present three expert speakers on wind generated electrical systems. Alberta in the 1930's was dotted by over 3000 wind generators in common use for energy on the farm. And wind power might stage a come-back according to John Elliott of the Renewable Energy Information Program operated here by SESCI.

Other speakers include Gordon Howell, research associate for the Solar and Wind Energy Research Program of the Alberta Research Council and Gehres Weed, an Edmonton architect.

The meeting, open to the public, will be in Room 2-115 Education North Building on the University of Alberta Campus at 7:30 p.m. on December 15.

Gallup poll shows support for schools

Albertans approve of the education their children are receiving, favour small classes, and think teachers should have a say in deciding working and learning conditions in schools, according to a Gallup poll conducted in the province in late October.

Results of the poll, released recently by ATA president Mac Kryzanowski, indicate 78% of Albertans think schools are doing a good to outstanding job of educating children, with fewer than 15% finding schooling inadequate. The strongest support came from rural areas, where 82.8% of the people voiced their approval.

"The results support what we've been trying to tell the government for the last three years: education is in good shape in this province; there is no need for a major overhaul. We've heard a tremendous amount of nonsense about the people wanting a radical shift back to 'basic' education. That superficial panacea for problems that do not exist is quite clearly not what the people want. The people want the kind of education now being provided."

"There is always room for improvement in education," Kryzanowski said, "but the results of the second question show that the improvement Albertans want is in the lowering of class sizes."

A second finding of the survey, which involved personal interviews with more than 1,000 Albertans, showed strong support for small classes. Of those polled, 78.4% thought classes should have fewer than 26 pupils. Respondents in rural areas again led the way, with 84.2% wishing classes of 25 or less.

The third question asked whether teachers should have a say in determining learning and working conditions in schools. Edmonton Public teachers struck for 10 days in September in an effort to gain the right to negotiate these conditions.

The results of the survey were overwhelmingly in favor of teachers and school boards sharing responsibility for such decisions about equally, with 60.4% of the public opting for co-determination. Seventy-six percent felt teachers should be involved by setting the learning and working conditions either themselves, or in conjunction with boards or the provincial government.

Only 3.8% of those questioned felt that school boards alone should be responsible for major decision making.

The ATA president went on to condemn the recent arbitration award which ended a year of negotiating between the Edmonton Public teachers and the board. The award included no clauses relating to pupil-teacher ratios or working conditions, the issues which had prompted a 10 day walkout by teachers.

Theatre 3's Scrooge taped for television

The Theatre 3 production of Scrooge was taped during the last week of November at ITV for broadcast on that station on Christmas eve.

ITV Producer Joan Krisch is pleased that the station is making the December 24, 7:00 time available for this major local production.

"The televised version of Scrooge will be a completely different experience for the viewer than seeing it live on stage," says Theatre 3 artistic director Keith Digby, who is directing Scrooge. "The two experiences will complement one another, and especially the young people in our audiences will be fascinated to see a stage play transposed to television."

Digby went on to praise ITV for their sustained interest in local drama. The same station recently taped Who's Minding the Atlantic also by Scrooge author Warren Graves.

The cast of Scrooge consists of Drew Borland, Nicole Evans, Crystal M. Fleuty, Colin Graves, Warren Graves, Ray Hunt, and Peter Messaline. Design is by John Madill, sound design is by Paul Moulton, director for the ITV taping is John Blanchard.

Scrooge opens December 5 and runs through December 17 at 8:00 nightly except Mondays, and at 2:00 Sundays. Tickets are available at The Bay, Hub, and Theatre 3, 10426 - 95 Street. (426-6870).

Dance theatre to perform Aladdin

With 60 dancers, a dragon and all the mystery of the East, the Classical Dance Theatre of Alberta will soon be giving its first performance of the ballet "Aladdin."

Last year, the company, then called the Children's Dance Theatre, presented "Pinocchio" with choreography by Margaret Flynn. This year, Mrs. Flynn, as artistic director is again responsible for the choreography but is assisted this time by a guest choreographer, Marian Sarach, formerly of the Alberta Contemporaary Dancers. The music is an original score composed by Ron Hannah.

Although "Aladdin" is often presented in a Chinese setting, the Dance Theatre has chosen to perform it as an Arabian production with music, sets, and costumes to harmonize. "We decided to stick to the original," explains Mrs. Flynn, "and it's turned out quite colorful."

It'll all come together on stage in the Jubilee Auditorium on December 13. The main performance is at 8 p.m. with a schools' matinee at 2 p.m. Tickets are on sale at The Bay or at the Edmonton School of Ballet (phone 435-1721).

Curtain to rise on Company

Paul Kane's Company 30 takes to the boards again this year, December 6, 7 and 8 for a dramatic presentation which promises to offer a real variety. The company is offering a double-header, by presenting a collage of excerpts from six plays, and a production of Androcles and the Lion for the main event. The curtain rises at 8 p.m.

The six plays cover a wide theatrical spectrum. Excerpts from the Diary of Adam and Eve, Arthur Miller's The Crucible; a satirie melodrama entitled Chaste Across the Stage; two Jules Fieffer scenes and the Diary of Adam and Eve.

Androcles and the Lion is of course based on the Aesop fable, and has been written for the stage by Aurand Harris who has rendered the story in Commedia d'Elle Arte style. The cast will be comprised of Marie-Louise Sorensen, Barry Hansen, David Adlard, Kriste Heath, Sandy Bricker and Charlene Scharf.

RATS...CAUGHT AGAIN!

These villanous rats were caged after a bout with the animated toys in the play Ready Steady Go now playing at the Walterdale Playhouse. Vicky Knight will take a look at this children's play next week. Photo by Al Popil

Citadel preparing for world premieres

A star-studded cast has recently arrived in Edmonton to begin rehearsals for Peter Coe's next production Flowers for Algernon opening December 13 on the Shoctor Stage.

Charles Strouse, the composer of Tony Award winners Annie, Applause and Bye Bye Birdie has complimented the Citadel with the world premiere of Flowers for Algernon - a musical adaptation of the best-selling novel and award winning movie CHARLY.

In addition to his three Tony award winners, composer Charles Strouse' long list of Broadway hits include, All American Golden Boy, It's A Bird ... It's A Plane ... It's Superman (Best Play 1966). Compositions include the theme song for the TV series 'All In The Family' and the movie scores for Bonnie and Clyde, The Night They Raided Minsky's and There Was A Crooked Man.

The script and lyrics were written by David Rogers. Syndicated columnist Rex Reed recently wrote of Rogers ... "He writes as though he's been charged with Kleig light electricity all his life and the rest of us are lucky to get some of the spillover." Mr. Rogers, playwrite and novelist has a long list of Broadway and television credits including over 40 plays and musicals currently in print. Both Mr. Strouse and Mr. Rogers are in Edmonton for the production.

Broadway star Christine Eberson plays the role of Alice, the young woman who falls in love with Charlie. Ms. Ebersole was last seen on Broadway as Agnes in the Tony Award winning musical On The Twentieth Century. She has made several appearances on and off Broadway and on television.

The role of Charlie is played by Paul Rudd whose film and television appearances include the young John F. Kennedy in Johnny We Hardle Knew Ye and Loren Hardeman Jr. in the film The Betsy with Laurence Olivier.

Sharry Flett, as the mother has appeared in theatres across Canada from Charlottetown to Calgary. She most recently portrayed the character of Wallis Simpson in the Charlottetown Festival's premiere of Windsor. Television appearances include Stella in the CBS's music-amera special Johnny Belinda.

John Juliani appears as Dr. Nemur. Shortly after opening his last production with the Citadel, Richard 111, John took on the role of Clarence, on very short notice, and this performance was very well received. Cec Linder, as Dr. Strauss, was also in Richard 111, as Hastings. He is a familiar television personality from his long runs with 'The Edge of Night' and has appeared in several motion pictures including Goldfinger, Touch of Class, and Lolita.

This will be the third play Mr. Coe has directed this season for Citadel audiences. His first two, Harold and Maude and Richard 111 were very well received by reviewers and were record setting Box Office successes.

Flowers For Algernon plays through the holiday season, December 13 to January 7 inclusive.

ORIENTAL OVERTURE

Roshomon, now playing at the Rice Theatre in the Citadel offers sword play, rape and thievery in an Oriental setting.

"CERCLE" CEREMONY

Cultural Co-operation Committee comes to an end

This week, St. Albert's Cultural Co-operative Committee ended its role in promoting culture here. The committee turned over its remaining funds to the Cercle Francophone, and will officially cease on December 31. This year's executive was Mrs. Florence Lefebvre, chairman; Mrs. M. T. Forget, vice chairman; and Mrs. Joan Lewis, secretary treasurer.

The committee was started by a small group of citizens in order to fulfill some of the cultural needs of the community. During the first year, a flexible committee structure was evolved. The group opened lines of communication with Alberta Culture, the federal Secretary of State's department and the Town of St. Albert.

In 1972, the committee's representatives were among the many attending the Alberta Government Cultural Conference. They also made representations to the St. Albert Charette that year.

The committee's most important work of 1973 came with the formation of the Further Education Council, in co-operation with the District 6 School Board, and the founding of the Cercle Francophone, then the French Social Committee.

Through the Further Education Council, the committee tried to provide education in many languages, including French, Spanish, Dutch, German and Cree. The most successful of these were French and Spanish.

BILINGUAL PLAYGROUNDS

The Bilingual Playgrounds were started in 1974 and have been incorporated in the City of St. Albert Parks and Recreation summer programs.

Since 1975, Father Albert Lacombe, founder of St. Albert, is honoured on his birthday at the Church on the Hill.

The C.C.C. co-operated with two major studies held in St. Albert during recent years.

A proposal for a Fall Festival kept the committee busy from early 1977 until May of 1978.

In June of 1978 at the opening of the Tourist Information Bureau the committee placed a picture in the remodelled RCMP barracks at Red Willow Park. It depicted Rifleman, Georges Chevigny, who served during the Riel Rebellion of 1885. A descriptive plaque was also installed.

This fall's projects included the setting up of the "People to People" petition at the St. Albert Public Library and the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Cercle Francophone of St. Albert.

The committee feels that St. Albert has matured as well as grown in the past 10 years. This is illustrated by the presence of a department of Culture within the Community Services department of the City.

The FD 28mm f/2.8 S.C. is a wide-angle lens with considerable depth of field, making it perfect for candid photography. It has very high resolving power, contrast and brightness, and is compact and light-weight for easy handling.

The FD 35mm f/3.5 S.C. is a wide-angle lens having 6 air-spaced elements and a 63° angle of view. It produces sharp pictures from center to edges throughout its entire focusing range even at maximum aperture.

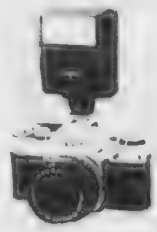

Explore the world of the great shotmakers.

There's a certain fine line that separates good performance from greatness. It's true in sports, life, photography. And it starts with something inside.

Our AE-1's unprecedented success has spawned an ocean of cameras which are similar outside but can't match the technology that's inside technology that makes the AE-1 such a geat combination of high performance and low cost. Yet with all this electornic wizardry, the AE-1 is one of the simplest cameras you'll ever pick up.

To begin with, the AE-1 is better because its shutter-priority automatic exposure lets you pick the speed to prevent blur while your aperture is picked by the camera. With other cameras, the speed can vary widel - and so can your picture quality.

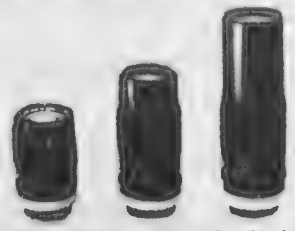

And the AE-1 has the only auto electronic flash system that sets both aperture and correct speed for you automatically. You've never seen flash so easy and accurate. With the AE-1's Power Winder A motorized film advance, you get fast and reliable performance - because the AE-1's electronics simplify the Winder's design. You can take the AE-1 as far in photography as you want to go. Because it's one automatic camera that's made to professional standards.

You know it's true in a world of would-be's and also-rans, only a few can make the great shots. Get a Canon AE-1 soon. And make a few great shots for yourself.

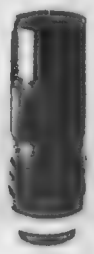

Canon AE-1
So advanced, it's simple.

The FD 135mm f/2.5 S.C. At full aperture the FD 135mm f/2.5 features a minimum of field curvature and produces sharp images with good contrast. It has a built-in retractable lens hood.

The FD 200mm f/4 S.S.C. Its small size and weight make this lens convenient for hand-held shooting. The FD 200mm is highly corrected for chromatic aberration giving it good definition throughout its entire focusing range.

The FD 300mm f/5.6 S.S.C. has an 8° 15' field-of-view and 6X magnification to bring any subject up close. Because it employing the rear-focusing system, focusing handling is very easy with the unchangeable overall length of the lens.

The FD 100-200mm f/5.6 S.C. lens is an inexpensive and relatively lightweight zoom lens for sports, snapshots and scenery.

"Cuts" Corner

By Sandra Klein and Susan Cantlie

I'm sure that all of the snow shovels have been dragged out reluctantly again for this season! It seemed that the sky didn't want to stop its endless supply of swirling snow. It is also time for all those skis, skates, sleds and skidoos to come out of their hiding and make themselves useful. It's another cold but fun season!

The W.D. Cuts Senior Boys' volleyball team was in the semi finals on Wednesday, November 29. They played against V.J. Maloney who has been the top volleyball team. There was a victorious evening for W.D. Cuts after winning three games out of five. On Friday, December 1, the senior boys will play Lorne Akins at Paul Kane for the FINALS! The whole school is very proud of our senior boys' volleyball team, and whether they win or lose the finals, our feelings will be just the same! Our team consists of: Tom Militsala, Curt Coates, Roy Riege, Dean Krause, Robbie Severun, Warren Mitchell, Bob Barnett, Tim Carson, Dean Clark, Lindsay Miller, Rob Tamaras and John Findlay. Their coach is Mr. Scott.

The senior girls' volleyball team enjoyed this season and participated well. They put all of their effort into their games. The team consists of: Debbie Royko, Tammy McKenzie, Susan Cantlie, Jan Jolliff, Shelly Debolt, Dalynn Jackson, Helen Smith, Shauna Johnson, Donna Duncan, Kirstin Wunch, Sherry Crerar and Laurie Langman. Their coach is Mrs. Stokke.

On December 9, W.D. Cuts is holding a dance-a-thon. The proceeds will go toward supplies and equipment for the school. It is on a Saturday so it can be held from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Keep happy thoughts in your head when your feet are sore and you feel as if you will drop, because we don't want you to quit on us too soon! Good luck!

Christmas is coming, along with its merry spirit. There must be quite a few people counting the days ahead before holidays and Christmas day! Along with the Christmas Season comes our Christmas dance on December 14. When you come, don't forget the white gifts!

JAMES CHOSE SCHOOL NAME

Assistant Superintendent Mrs. Muriel Martin, presented James MacDonald with a book as an award for having his choice 'Wild Rose', selected as the new school's name.

Students earn fitness awards

There was a ceremony held recently at Bertha Kennedy School to present the Canada Fitness Awards to those students in Grade 3 - 6 who had achieved the Award of Excellence on the tests held in the fall. Following are the names of these students:

Grade 6: Jason Cunningham, Brian Primeau, Brian Schultz, Darren Thompson;

Grade 5: Mark Johnston, Jackie Peterson, Mark Skakun, Kevin Welch;

Grade 4: Nicole Cowling, Jeff Lecuyer, Dale Skakun;

Grade 3: Heather Johnston, Avryl Manning.

There was a great improvement in the fitness level of the majority of students in the school - for example - last year there were 11 students in Grade 3 - 6 who failed to achieve any crest and everyone of these students worked up to a bronze crest this year.

CROSS COUNTRY RACE WINNERS

At this same ceremony, three boys from Bertha Kennedy School were presented with ribbons for having won the boys (age 9 and 10) group at the CAHPER cross country race held in the fall. These boys Mark Johston, Mark Skakun and Darren Howey accomplished an outstanding feat considering the fact that Bertha Kennedy School only has one Grade 4 and one Grade 5 classroom to draw the competitors from whereas the schools they were competing against were all much larger. The race the boys won had 158 competitors. Congratulations to the three boys and coach Joe Laplante who spent a great deal of time working with the cross country team!

Hideout Column

By Sharon Beale and Albert Zylstra

Here we go again, folks. This Sunday, December 10 we'll be having another coffee house. Our guests will be the Spirit River Band and various others. If you get off on country and bluegrass, be sure to drop down around 1:00. This includes all you parents as well.

December 22, the Hideout is going to be a scene of good cheer with our Christmas disco running from 8 until midnight. Who knows, maybe good 'ol St. Nick will humble us with his presence. It merely depends upon whether we can convince some ... er ... ah ... kind soul to assist us.

Immediately following the dance the Hideout will be closed until January 5 when there is a possibility of another dance - so keep tuned for further details.

We are also, as usual, in dire need of teen-aiders, so if you are interested, curious or even mildly amused by working with teen-agers, please call 459-3413 or 459-8512 after 6 p.m. We need adult assistance because without it the Teen Centre cannot survive. Contrary to popular belief we do appreciate the help and concern of adults and contrary to popular belief, the teen executive is not related, even distantly, to Superman, the Hulk or Genghis Khan, (although I sometimes wonder if Attila the Hun isn't a distinct possibility).

Another added surprise for music lovers: we are expecting, despite several drawbacks, the imminent return of our dearly beloved jukebox. Watch for it!

Everybody had a good time last Saturday night when we held a floor hockey tournament. Free tickets to our Christmas dance were presented to both teams who had the stamina to make it to the finals.

To any parents or girls of the team's members; if any of your loved ones are missing, check Sturgeon General for them. Many of the players are probably suffering sheer exhaustion.

St. Albert High Reports

By Marilyn Joly

Last Wednesday, school started with a bang, or rather should we say a "bat". Our friendly visitor made two flights before Rod nabbed him.

The Grey Cup Game was successful for the Edmonton Eskimos and for Students' Council who sold pool tickets and raised $713. for the Cerebral Palsy Association of Alberta.

New crested school jackets have been ordered by many of the students.

Mr. Reinbold has made the final cuts for the girl basketball team. Regular practices are now underway and Mr. Reinbold and his girls look forward to another successful year.

The boys' team has a new coach, Ron Martyna, of St. Albert High and Grant MacEwan fame. St. Albert High will once again rise up and dominate the basketball courts.

Congratulations to Janice Cherniak and Bernie Bolton for their recent success in the CFRN - TV debates. Danny Lyndon competed in the Sir Winston Churchill regional speech tournament at Harry Ainlay. She did not win, but she represented us well.

'Teach Me To Dance' CBC film showing Dec. 17

Teach Me To Dance, a National Film Board drama about one of Canada's Christmases past, will be telecast nationally on CBC, Sunday, December 17 at 9 p.m.

The half-hour film produced in collaboration with ATEC and CBC, is part of the NFB's "Adventure in History" project, a series of fiction films dramatizing events in Canada's past.

Written by Myrna Kostash and directed by Anne Wheeler, Teach Me To Dance is set in Alberta in 1919, against a background of the growing hostilities between English-Canadian and Ukrainian settlers on the Prairies.

Lesia, the daughter of a Ukrainian immigrant and Sarah, her English friend, decide to perform a Ukrainian dance together as part of their school's Christmas pageant. Sarah's father, however, is one of the loudest protesters against the Ukrainian settlers.

Despite their parents' prejudices, the girls' friendship endures and they meet to celebrate Christmas Day together.

Teach Me To Dance was shot on location in Vegreville, Alberta, at a reconstructed Ukrainian pioneer village. Starring in the drama are two talented young performers -- Nadia Ostashewski as Lesia and Christine Lilge as Sarah.

New act to change property distribution.

Alberta's new Matrimonial Property Act will become effective on January 1, 1979 as a result of an order-in-council passed recently.

The new law could have an effect on everyone in Alberta who is married, separated or divorced. It sets specific guidelines for the distribution of property owned by one or both persons when a marriage breaks down.

The new law states that on marriage breakdown, property acquired during marriage will be shared equally by the two spouses unless the court decides it would be unfair to do so. If the two parties agree upon a basis for sharing this property, a judge's order is not necessary.

Although some property is exempted, the balance of the matrimonial property which is to be shared is almost all of the property the two persons acquired after marriage. If the court decides it will be shared on any basis other than a 50/50 split, the act sets guidelines for the distribution.

A marriage contract would over-ride the act and allow spouses to be bound by the rules they chose, but the contract must be written according to the requirements of the act.

The new legislation does not deal with maintenance payments which are covered in the Divorce Act and the Domestic Relations Act.

When the two parties disagree on property distribution either spouse may apply to the courts for a matrimonial property order which is in the form of a Statement of Claim for distribution of their property.

THE CHALLENGE OF THE "SUPER MOM"

Preparation for Christmas is always hectic. We wonder how we'll get everything done in the time available to us. Eileen Klein, district home economist at Lac La Biche offers the following advice for working women. Whether you are working at home or outside the home here are some ideas to follow to make more efficient use of your time and energy.

Women who work outside the home have a special challenge facing them. Husbands, children, employers and friends all have expectations with which one must deal. The first step in planning any action is to realize what these people will expect from you. The only one you can be sure of is the employer. He is going to pay you to do a job, so for the hours in the day that you are working the job is top priority. Children, family matters, and personal business must be shelved until you have time to deal with it. Some employers are more easy going about work habits, but this is the general understanding. Of course in the case of an emergency most employers are approachable.

Next - the family. If they expect you to care for them the way you did before you worked, you are going to be a very tired lady. Find out what they are willing to do without, what they think they can do themselves and what you have to do. It is necessary to know this before you can plan your time and do some organizing.

Now the hard part. Organizing your activities to make to best possible use of the limited time you have available. Make sure you allow time for you. It may sound frivolous to include a half hour just for you in a busy schedule, but it may save your sanity. Start your plan by figuring out what is essential to your daily living. Meals, laundry, mending and general housekeeping usually fall into this category. Planning meals is probably your job. Try planning a week ahead and you can see more easily what groceries you will need and what preparation you can do in advance. Once you do that it is easier to decide who will do what. Husbands and children will fall into place if they know what you expect from them.

As for laundry and housekeeping, you don't have a corner on the market so teach other family members what it's all about. This is the fastest way to teach people to pick up after themselves. Try not to find fault in the way jobs are done. So what if the kids don't make beds as nicely as you do. Praise them alot and they will be encouraged to try harder. Remember it is up to you to teach them to do things properly and that takes time. Be lavish with praise and affection so everyone knows how important they are to the whole family.

Taking care of family needs can be a family responsibility. The time you share doing chores and working together provides a good opportunity for you to get to know each other and develop mutual trust and respect.

So super moms, the challenge is yours. You may be rewarded with the satisfaction of your job and your family!

Thickening soups

Long-cooking soups can be easily and nutritiously thickened by the addition of a handful of oatmeal added at the beginning of cooking. The oatmeal gives texture and body -- with very few calories!

Smooth cheesecake

Cheesecake should be smooth and creamy. The secret is in the cooking -- never overbake. Even though the centre might not seem completely set, remember it will solidify as the cake cools.

FINISHING TOUCHES

Bigway Merchandiser Gene Radomsky finishes the shelf stocking in preparation for the grand opening this week. All Bigway stores are individually owned, and the owners also collectively own their wholesale supplier. The new Bigway store will open Thursday morning at 10, and will be open seven days a week, providing complete fresh meat service, top quality produce, as well as other grocery items.

Only three smoke detectors get O.K.

Municipalities say smoke detectors a must, but Canadian Consumer magazine recommends only three models.

Municipal and provincial governments across Canada are making the installation of smoke detectors in homes mandatory but only three models available are recommended on the basis of a test of relative merit, says the Consumers' Association of Canada (CAC) in their October issue.

Under provincial regulations, detectors are now mandatory in all new homes in Alberta and Ontario. Starting in January 1979 they will be required in all apartment buildings in Alberta, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are considering similar legislation.

Meanwhile municipalities such as Ottawa are enacting bylaws requiring the immediate installation of detectors. The first municipality in Canada to require detectors was Inuvik, in October 1974. Now 85 percent of all buildings in the North West Territories have detectors.

CAC recommends only three models out of 19 tested in its laboratory. The three are Charlescraft Corp Ltd.'s Lifesaver F900D, Teledyne Water Pik Ltd's Smoke Alarm D-ICAN and Chloride Systems (Canada) Smoke Sentinel 30-77.

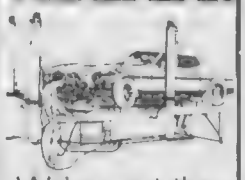

The Lifesaver and Smoke Alarm are ionization types and the Smoke Sentinel is photoelectric. Ionization-type detectors respond well to fast-burning smokeless fires while photoelectric types respond best to smoky slow-burning ones.

Prices of the 19 brands tested by CAC ranged from $25 to $80. The three recommended models cost $29, $42 and $50 respectively. All of the brands tested met minimum requirements. CAC's recommendation is based solely on the response time of the samples tested.

CAC recommends that you buy two detectors and put a photoelectric type in the hallway outside your bedroom and an ionization type downstairs close to the stairwell but not in the kitchen.

In a one-storey home, says the consumers' magazine, put the ionization type close to the basement stairs.

Retailers rapped for sexist ads

Retailers have had their hands slapped by a member of the Alberta Human Rights Commission for reinforcing sexist stereotypes in their Christmas advertising.

At issue are the kinds of toy and game ads, abundant in both print and electronic media, which state that "your little girl will just adore our sweet Sindy - she wets, she cries, she cuddles" or "our big Mack truck will provide hours of fun for the little man in your house."

"I'm not a child psychiatrist, but I am a parent," says Connie Osterman, a Human Rights Commissioner for five years and a mother of five children on her farm near Carstairs. It's not a big issue, but it seems to me that advertising of this kind is just one more obstacle to children expressing their own desires. It makes these little people very uncomfortable about playing with toys other than those which the T.V. tells them to play with."

High-pressure toy advertising starts early in November and continues unabated through the holiday season, says Mrs. Osterman. As a result, there is enormous pressure on parents to buckle under to commercial values, rather than allowing each child to gradually develop his or her own role.

"When our own children were young, we didn't have a T.V.," says Mrs. Osterman. "That allowed for a lot more diversification. We weren't long on dolls, but if there was one, everybody played with it. Everybody built with the Meccano set. And everybody wheeled the toy tractor around, maybe because their Mom drove a real one."

The answer, according to Mrs. Osterman, is for retailers and advertising agencies to be more imaginative in promoting toys, and for parents to be more resistant to sexually stereotyping their children. "Advertisements should simply emphasize the virtues of the toy without directing it to one sex or another, and leave it to the parents, or the children themselves, to decide what toys to buy. Once they're bought, why not share them with the whole family?"

Peeling chestnuts

This Christmas, chestnuts can add a festive air to stuffings and other dishes. To avoid frustration peeling the nuts, make a small gash on the flat side of each nut. Roast them in a pre-heated 400 degree oven until the skins loosen from the nuts.

Low calorie whipped cream

There's help in store for those who love whipped cream and hate calories. Substitute a stiffly-beaten egg white for part of the cream. Shortly before serving, fold the beaten egg white into the whipped cream. The mixture will not last as long but is just as delicious and looks very similar.

Blender soup

Refrigerators often get filled with bits and pieces of leftover vegetables .. sauces etc. Use these up by blending them into a soup in the blender. Blend and taste, then season. If soup is too thick add broth to stock. These could be served hot or cold.

Discoloured yolks

Avoid the greyish tinge on hard-boiled eggs. Chill them immediately after cooking.

Egg nog for festive desserts

Combining tradition with Participaction during the Christmas season presents most of us with a severe challenge. Shortbreads and fruitcake are everywhere and irresistible. That growing spare tire will probably take six months' jogging in payment.

Egg Nog Bavarian with Winter Fruit Salad bows to tradition but avoids the caloric punch and excessive richness of the usual festive desserts. Leftovers from egg nog parties can provide the basic ingredient. Canned, dairy carton, or homemade egg nog work equally well.

EGG NOG BAVARIAN WITH WINTER FRUIT SALAD

1 envelope gelatin
2 cups eggnog, canned or dairy carton
¼ tsp. rum extract (optional)
1 pint whipping cream
1 tsp. vanilla
¼ cup sugar
2 each apple, pear, orange, banana
2 tbsp. each lemon juice and sugar

Dissolve gelatin in one quarter cup water, according to package directions. Allow to cool slightly.

Spice egg nog with rum extract, if desired. Slowly stir in liquid gelatin.

In a chilled bowl, combine whipping cream and vanilla. Whip until stiff, gradually adding sugar during last part of whipping. Fold into egg nog mixture. Pour into one quart ring mold that has been rinsed with water. Chill two hours or more.

Dip mold in warm water in order to unmold onto platter. Slice fruit, toss with lemon juice and sugar and fill centre of mold.

Serves 6 to 8.

Egg Nog leftovers may be frozen, poured over fresh fruit or prepared as a Bavarian dessert.

Rudolf, The Pocket Size Bear, writes to Santa Claus

With snow already on the ground, and Christmas just around the corner, Rudolf thought he should get his letter written in plenty of time for it to go all the way to the North Pole. That was exciting.

He found a nice piece of paper and a pen which was rather large for a bear. He struggled to get the pen up right, and began. "Dear Sir, Mr. Claus" for he knew he had to be very respectful. He considered a moment, and wrote "I hope you and Mrs. Claus are very well, and your reindeers as well." He shuffled a little and continued, "I want to say, that if you need any help on Christmas Eve, by the time you reach Morinville, please give me a call. Everyone will be asleep, but I will be waiting with a lighted candle in the window to show you the way. I hope you will have time to stop for a nice warm drink of milk and honey." Rudolf paused to read his letter, and was content. "Yours respectfully, Rudolf," he wrote and to make quite sure, put a nice paw print. "P.S. I don't need a present, but if you happen to have a small pot of honey and a little purple knitted cap, it would be very nice."

He found a large envelope and popped in his letter. It took a lot of lick to stick it down. A pile of letters lay on the table, ready for mailing, so Rudolf slipped his amongst them.

He was very excited, because he had always wanted to write a real proper letter. All he had to do now was wait for the sound of sleigh bells on Christmas Eve.

St. Albert United Church Advent service for family use

This is a service prepared by the St. Albert United Church in the hope that you will use it to enrich the meaning of Christmas for you and your family.

One of the Christmas customs which emerged in the medieval period in Scandinavia and western Europe was the Advent wreath and the lighting of Advent candles.

To make an Advent wreath you need four purple candles, one white candle and evergreens. Arrange the evergreens in a circle. Place the purple candles in the circle and the white candle in the centre.

The services are designed to encourage the participation of all family members in the prayers, in the selection and reading of the scripture passages and in the Christmas Carols.

THE CANDLE OF PROMISE

Thanksgiving Prayer: [Father]

Our Heavenly Father, we give you thanks for the opportunity to worship You as a family. We give you thanks for (at this point, all members of the family are encouraged to express in prayer what they are thankful for). Father closes by leading in the Lord's Prayer.

Questions and Answers [to be asked by the youngest child present if appropriate and answered by the father)

Q. Why are there candles?

A. To remind us that God is present here.

Q. Why are there four purple candles and one white one?

A. Purple is the color of royalty. We are celebrating the coming of our Lord Jesus and His Kingdom. It is the way of our people to do this for four Sundays before Christmas Day. The white candle is for Christ's birth.

Q. Why is there a wreath made of evergreens?

A. To remind us that God gave us eternal life at Christmas.

Scripture: (another member of the family will choose one or more of these to be read) "The Bible tells us that God promised His People a Savior."

Reading: Isaiah 9:2
John 1:4 & 5
Isaiah 11:1-3
Revelation 21:3-4

Candle Lighting - A member of the family lights the first candle, saying "This is the Candle of Promise."

Response: Here, the family sings or listens to Christmas Carols such as "O Come, O Come Emmanual" or the Huron Carol.

Prayer:

Mother closes with a prayer of praise: "Heavenly Father, you promised a Savior who would show us your love. You also promised us that you will always be with us and care for us and love us. For this we give you thanks. Amen.

THE CANDLE OF THE PROMISE KEPT

Thanksgiving Prayer: [Father]

Our Heavenly Father, we give you thanks for the opportunity to worship You as a family. We give you thanks for ... (at this point, all members of the family are encouraged to express in prayer what they are thankful for). Father closes by leading in the Lord's Prayer.

Questions and Answers - (as in The Candle of Promise

Scripture: (another member of the family will choose one or more of these to be read) "The Bible tells us that God kept His promise to us.

Reading: Luke 2: 10-11
Matthew 2: 1-2
Matthew 1: 18-23
John 1: 14

Candle Lighting: The first candle is lit saying "This is the Candle of Promise." The second candle is then lit saying "This is the Candle of the Promise Kept."

Response: The family sings or listens to Christmas Carols such as "Away In A Manger," "What Child Is This," "The First Noel."

Prayer:

Mother closes with a prayer of praise. "Heavenly Father, you kept your promise and sent us Jesus. You also promised to be with us always. If we allow ourselves to test that, we know that you are present and still keep that promise. Help us to put our trust in you. Help us to learn to live in faith, assured that when we ask you to direct our lives, you will - in your way and in your time. For this we thank you. Amen.

Singing Christmas Tree is spectacular

Central's Singing Christmas Tree has become one of Edmonton's annual Christmas events. Last year, approximately 16,000 enjoyed this musical spectacular. The tree (a wood and steel structure, 35 feet high and covered with the branches from about 100 spruce trees) holds more than 100 singers who are accompanied by 50 musicians at the base of the tree.

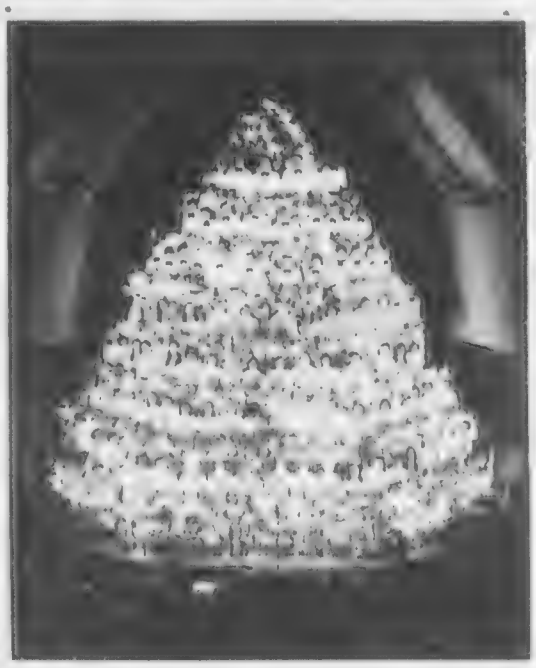

The music in this year's presentation is in the style of a 'light opera'. The main characters of Joseph, Mary and Gabriel portray the Christmas story in the setting of 'Herod's Temple'.

A technical crew of approximately 35 people assist in cuing sound, lighting and back stage activity.

To assist in bringing this presentation to more Edmontonians, the final presentation will be video-taped by I.T.V. and released during the Christmas season.

Be sure to come early and enter the Sanctuary at 100 Avenue and 115 Street.

The spectacular will be presented at the following dates and times: December 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, 18, with shows Saturdays at 8 p.m., Sundays at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. and Mondays at 8 p.m.

Parsonally Speaking

By Pastor B. L. Heath
First Baptist Church

SING UNTO THE LORD

My, what a choral festival the churches, the St. Albert Band, and the Groovy Grannies held last Sunday night.

This was under the sponsorship of the St. Albert Ministerial Association.

About 200 people were on the program and over 600 attended. What talents were sang forth! NO wonder someone has called music the international language. This was a beautiful program made up of children, youth, congregational singing and the Senior Citizens Groovy Grannies taking part. An offering was taken to cover the costs and then a large portion of the balance will go to a local charity. The offering amounted to $252. Tonight at 8:30 p.m. the Capital Cable on Channel 5 will broadcast a part of that program.

I believe everyone taking part will be looking forward to next year's program. It has been several years since the community had a program like this one.

NEW MEMBERS WELCOME

Any girl in grade 7 a. d up may join CGIT. For further information please contact Diana Ward at 458-2577 or either leader - Dianne Cardin at 458-3057 and Shairl Ford at 458-1644. As the group grows we are looking for more help. If you have been in CGIT or have been a leader either in CGIT or any youth group and/or have an interest in the teen-age girls of St. Albert, please give us a call.

More study needed on Bon Accord growth

The growth study meeting held at the Bon Accord Hall on Tuesday, November 28 was discussed at last night's village council meeting. In order to bring the development proposal to the form of a bylawan amount of work will be required from the planner, engineers, the Sturgeon School Board, as well as others. Once it appears in bylaw form and receives first reading by the village council, it will be advertised publicly and a formal public hearing will be held. Depending largely on the response at that hearing, the bylaw will go to village council for second and final reading.

Due to time and space, the Gazette could only outline the proposals outlined in the Bon Accord Planning Strategy paper in last week's issue. Following is a closer look at the contents of the strategy:

LAND USE

Presently development has been predominately of the single family dwelling type, and the village council expects the majority of the future residential growth to be of the same variety. However, the village may adopt specific and different overall densities for each neighbourhood depending on its location with respect to the downtown commercial area, major transportation routes, public facilities and for other appropriate reasons.

The village will require developers to submit an area structure plan, which must be in accordance with procedures and information requirements as outlined by the council. Multi-family developments must provide for adequate on-site parking and recreational areas. The village council proposes that all power and telephone lines in future residential areas will be constructed underground.

COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Present commercial sites primarily cater to the immediate needs of Bon Accord residents. Larger commercial outlets have not located in the village due to the small population, but with the expected growth of the community, it is expected that more outlets will be attracted to build in Bon Accord.

The village council will continue to support continued development in the downtown business district. Comprehensive planning and compact development will be encouraged rather than scattered commercial activities. As well, the council will require future developers to provide adequate off-street parking and adequate loading accesses.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The amount of existing and proposed vacant land in Bon Accord is relatively small. In an effort to encourage industrial development the village will seek to maintain a supply of serviced land in excess of expected demand.

The village maintains that polluting industries will not be permitted to locate within the municipality and that industrial areas will be separated from residential areas by landscaping, buffer strips, major transportation routes or a gradation of land uses. The village also plans to take maximum advantage of senior government policies, programs and incentives.

SCHOOLS

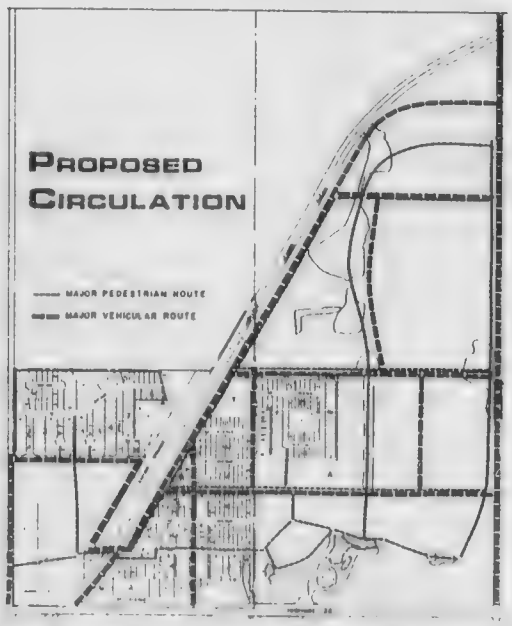

The present Bon Accord School, which provides instruction for grades from kindergarten to grade 9 is approaching full enrollment capacity. Therefore, a school site has been recommended in the proposed land use plan.

The proposed location is centrally located and in proximity to a recreation area, which enhances the current joint use agreement. It is hoped that the school will be located in such an area that young children will not have to cross major traffic arteries or other physical or man-made obstructions in order to reach the school. The village will not permit industrial development adjacent to the school site and the village favors the principle that if the school reserve land is not required for school purposes that it should be returned to the village at no cost.

Shown in the above map are the proposed vehicular and pedestrian arteries regarding the proposed development of Bon Accord. The proposal has been mainly determined in consideration of the NAR line which limits east-west circulation. The village plans to develop a pedestrian and bicycle circulation system which would link residential areas with schools, shops, parks and recreation facilities.

FATHER GEORGES H. PRIMEAU

Ernie Jamison, MLA St. Albert Constituency is pleased to announce the appointment of Father Georges Primeau of Thorhild Parish to the Governing Council of the Athabasca University, effective December 8, 1978. Father Primeau has had an enduring interest in education and also in the development of Christian Morals and ethics as part of the continuing education process. The Honourable Bert Hohol, minister of advanced education, said he felt Father Primeau would be a valuable asset to the council.

N.F.U. president expresses views

The regional co-ordinator of the National Farmers Union, Bill Dascavich, wants a referendum held to determine whether farmers would be in favour of all feed grain sales being handled exclusively by the Canadian Wheat Board.

In a letter mailed November 23 to the Honorable Otto Lang, transportation minister in charge of the Canadian Wheat Board, Mr. Dascavich pointed out that union members are expressing concern over their lack of equal delivery opportunity in the domestic marketing of feed grains and the depressing effect on price because of an over supply of feed grains being delivered into the grain handling system.

In his letter, Mr. Dascavich reminded the Minister that a referendum on whether or not they favoured the new feed grains policy introduced in 1973 was promised to be held within a year. The referendum has not been held.

The last annual convention of the NFU passed a resolution calling for a referendum to be held, governed by the following rules:

1) Only permit holders within the CWB area be allowed to vote;

2) The vote be decided on a simple majority of ballots returned;

3) The vote be taken before the end of the current crop year;

4) There be no provision on the ballot for anything except a simple "yes" or "no" to the question;

5) The ballot to read "Are you in favor of all feed grains being handled exclusively by the CWB?"

Mr. Dascavich also protested the lack of co-operation by the federal government in the funding of purchasing additional grain hopper cars. He suggested

U.G.G. president questions CWG's hopper cars purchase

The president of United Grain Growers (UGG) Thursday issued a strongly worded statement opposing the Canadian Wheat Board's announcement last week it would tender for the purchase of 500 to 2,000 hopper cars.

"It was done without the sanction of grain farmers or their organizations, yet the payment for hopper cars will come right out of the farmer's pocket," Mac Runciman the president of U.G.G. commented.

"Only two weeks ago both United Grain Growers and Manitoba Pool Elevators held their annual meetings, yet not a word was said to delegates about the purchase of hopper cars. Was the Board afraid of farmers' opinion? If not, its action can only be described as taking under liberties," added Mr. Runciman.

Runciman stated that he intends to question U.G.G.'s 3,500 local board members and find out how they feel about buying hopper cars. He intends to make public their responses and provide their comments to the Canadian Wheat Board, the government and opposition parties.

The president of the Prairie grain co-operative said, "The UGG board of directors strongly oppose the purchase of hopper cars at this time. It results in a hidden increase in Crow's Nest rates which are statutory rates, without parliamentary authority. "Furthermore, it is not clear whether investment in hop-plied to the village by four wells having a total aggregate capacity of 200 imp. gal./min., which is capable of supporting a population of 1,800 people on a peak daily basis. (The current population is about 1,100). The water is hard and contains iron.

The village is in favor of instituting a filter system, which will alleviate the iron problem, but plans on leaving the softening of the water up to the residents. Many residents already have their own water softening equipment.

The storage of water is important mainly to provide an adequate fire fighting supply and to meet the peak hourly water demand. It is also advantageous in consideration of well and equipment servicing.

To supply adequate fire protection and storage for the proposed community size of from 3,500 to 4,000 people, the village will be building a 500,000 gallon reservoir in 1979.

In 1977, the sewage treatment facilities were upgraded to handle a population of 1,700 and for future expansion to accommodate a population of 3,500 people. However, the upgrading of the sewage facilities for the proposed population increase is not considered a major capital expense.

The village will require a conceptual outline of sewer and water systems prior to future development.

that this forced the Canadian Wheat Board to purchase the railcars at the farmers' expense in order to help ensure delivery of export sales and take advantage of expanding sales opportunities.

In a telegram sent November 24 to the Honourable Otto Lang, Mr. Dascavich pointed out that he regarded the government's action as a back door approach to subverting the spirit of the statutory rate agreement for hauling grain.

Earlier Dascavich said that while he recognized the need for more rail equipment and better rail transportation service to meet export grain sales, farmers alone should not be expected to pay for a transportation system that benefits the country as a whole and is functional to railway and grain company profit taking.

Mr. Dascavich also expressed concern that producers of non-board grain would benefit from the addition of CWB hoppers, without contributing to their cost. He pointed out that this would represent an inequitable allocation of costs.

per cars is what is most needed at this time.

Runciman said that the board of directors of United Grain Growers do not question the eventual need for more grain cars, just as they don't question the need for more West Coast terminal space or improved trackage.

He commented, "We do object, though, to the Canadian Wheat Board dictating national transportation policy without the approval of parliament and using farmers' money. Regardless if the Canadian Wheat Board Act says the Board can own equipment, by-passing farmer opinion on an important matter such as this is simply going too far."

Mr. Runciman added "I am still convinced a major answer to the 'car shortage' problem lies in management of the cars we have. I'm not being critical of the Board staff -- they're doing the best job they can with the system they have to work under. Maybe, however, we need to change the system and have grain companies take a larger part in the decision-making."

He said that he is disappointed in the Canadian Wheat Board Advisory Committee relationship. He wonders if the members of the Advisory Committee were told. If so, he wonders why the Advisory Committee didn't inform farmers and if the Advisory Committee wasn't told, why it wasn't.

Runciman believes the Canadian Wheat Board should drop its tenders. At $45,000 a hopper car, the cost of 2,000 cars amounts to $90 million of farmers' money and that kind of money should not be spent without farmers' approval.

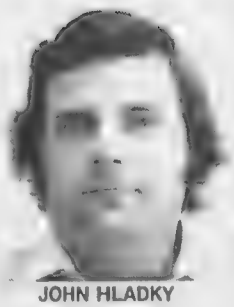

"The question of 'who pays?' still has to be settled. If the Board goes ahead, the very least that should be done is the federal government guarantee Canadian National will buy back the cars when the grain freight issue is settled. At least, then, farmers will get their money back," President Runciman concluded.

A waste of money

Farmers who apply sulphur fertilizer to irrigated land in western Canada may be throwing their money away.

A plant nutritionist at Agriculture Canada's research station at Lethbridge, Alta., says the results of a recent study he carried out show that growers who irrigate apply two to five times as much sulphur as is harvested in their crops.

Sulphur is an essential plant nutrient and is deficient in many Canadian soils. However, water used in irrigation in the West already contains more sulphur than the crops require.

GRAIN DRYING PROPANE REBATE PROGRAM

The amount of rebate is .10¢ per gallon for propane used to dry grain. This rebate applies to farmers who had to use propane in drying grain because they could not be hooked up to natural gas. A representative from the Natural Gas Co-op must sign the form verifying that the gas Co-op was unable to supply gas for grain drying in an area where a rural gas franchise is in operation.

ALBERTA GEOPHYSICAL PERMIT

A permit is now available from District Agriculturists' offices for anyone who is approached by a geophysical company to do geophysical work. The land owner now has the choice of using the new permit or the one used by the geophysical company.

WATER WELL RECOVERY PROGRAM

Following is an excerpt from Agri-News:

Alberta's agriculture minister, Marvin Moore, recently announced the introduction of a Water Well Recovery Program to assist landowners who have encountered water well problems that may have been caused by seismic activity in the area. The problems include disruption of water service through pollution of water supplies, silting, sedimentation and, in some instances, the total disruption of water sources.

A landowner who experiences a decrease in his water supply, which he feels is related to seismic activity, should, if possible, contact the geophysical company to negotiate a settlement. In cases where a farmer is unaware of the geophysical company, or cannot negotiate a settlement, he should refer the matter to Alberta Energy and Natural Resources. The geophysical branch of that department will examine the situation, conduct an on-site inspection and determine the amount of compensation which the company should pay.

In cases where the geophysical branch, the farmer and the company cannot come to an agreement as to the nature of the problem and its cause, the matter will be referred to a separate committee for review. That committee, composed of representatives from Alberta Agriculture, Alberta Energy and Natural Resources, Alberta Environment and two farmer members of the local agricultural development committee in the area where the complainant resides, will review the matter and make recommendations to the Minister of Agriculture regarding assistance. Compensation will then be paid directly to the landowner

The Water Well Recovery Program is retroactive to January 1, 1976.

Application forms are now available from district agriculturists and from the Engineering and Rural Services Division, Agriculture Building, 9718 - 107 Street, Edmonton, T5K 2G8.

Bison for sale

A herd of live buffalo from Elk Island National Park, 20 miles east of Edmonton, will be offered for sale for ranching purposes by Parks Canada in mid-December.

Superintendent Fred Bamber said the park's 600 head of plains bison has to be reduced because the herd has exceeded its grazing capacity in the 50 square mile fenced national park.

So 125 buffalo will be offered for sale in blocks of 12, 13 and 25 and another 50 head will go to Alexander reserve where Indians have already established a bison ranch.

An upset price of $250 an animal has been established for yearlings and $300 for older animals. Parks Canada will receive sealed tenders up until December 14 at its offices in Calgary, Winnipeg and Hull, Quebec. Part of the park's herd was last offered for sale five years ago.

The grass-fattened buffalo, ranging in weight from 300-1,000 pounds, are being offered to Canadian firms or residents interested in ranching.

"Ranchers have indicated that a market exists for buffalo meat, which tastes like beef, and our animals are prize specimens," said Superintendent Bamber.

Morinville is a bee hive of activity, with all the construction that has been going on lately in the ever expanding town. This development called the Renault Plaza will bring additional offices and shops to the main street.

Cattlemen reject unlimited beef imports

The Canadian Cattlemen's Association recently rejected as unrealistic and counter-productive the demands of a number of groups including retailers and importers for the complete removal of beef import quotas for 1979. Stewart Brown, president of the Association, said that any move to try and force down beef prices through unlimited imports would not only be frustrated by high world prices but would also seriously erode producer confidence in the future of the beef industry.

Brown said that he was particularly disappointed with the recent statements of the Consumers' Association of Canada calling for removal of all import quotas and tariffs on beef. The president of the consumers group is on record as supporting the need for a strong and viable domestic beef industry - which traditionally provides Canadians with 95 percent of their beef requirements. However, she obviously fails to understand the long term decision making in the industry and the negative impact on producers of Happy birthday wishes go to our lovely senior citizen Mrs. Katie Davis who was 89 years young on November 29. We wish her many more happy birthdays and hope she continues to enjoy her good health.

Sympathy from the district is extended to Debbie and Douglas Crozier in the loss of Debbie's mother, Mrs. Wilma Johnston of Sherwood Park, formerly of St. Albert, who passed away suddenly on November 29, 1978.

A gift was presented to Karen from her Brownie friends and her leaders. Father Croteau was in attendance to pin on her badge as well as her certificate she received.

The Tweeners who received their Brownie pins are: Lee-Ann Scott, Susanne Kubica, Michelle Miller, Rhonda and Shawna Granger, Melanie Garrioch, Jacqueline Pelletier, Teresa Harrison, Rebecca Simpson, Debbie Neff and Jody Brons.

MR. & MRS. LOUIS PELLETIER

St. Martin - Pelletier wed

Saturday, November 4 St. Emile's Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a lovely early evening wedding when Marie Elizabeth St. Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan St. Martin and Louis Julien Pelletier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Pelletier exchanged marriage vows performed by Rev. Real Levasseur.

The bride looked radiant in her gown made of satin polyester, with lace on the bodice and sleeves. She wore a waist-length veil held in place with a headpiece. Her bouquet was made up of red roses and white carnations.

Her maid of honour Lorraine Chamberland, and bridesmaids Rita St. Martin and Carmen St. Jean wore long dresses of aqua blue velvet with short jackets trimmed with white marabou fur. They carried bouquets of white baby mums.

The groom was handsome in his light blue tuxedo suit with a white ruffled shirt. His boutonniere was a white carnation.

Best man, Andre Pelletier and attendants Denis Pelletier and Richard St. Martin wore light blue tuxedos with navy trim and matching blue shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a plum colored dress, accented with a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the groom wore a bright pink dress with white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held at the Community Hall where approximately 300 guests were greeted by the bride and groom along with their parents.

A beautiful three tiered wedding cake centered the head table at the banquet. Everyone enjoyed a lovely evening dancing to the music of Driftwood.

Out of town guests came from Slave Lake, Drayton Valley, Vancouver and Nanaimo, B.C.

Later during the evening the bride changed into a brown two-piece pant suit with beige accessories.

After a week long honeymoon to the mountains Louis and Marie returned to Legal where they will make their home.

St. Emile's CWL discuss wife's role

St. Emile's CWL Legal, held its November meeting with 10 members present. We were pleased to have Mary Dextraze and Yvonne Blanchette attend our meeting.

Fr. Levasseur opened with the league prayer, followed by the scripture reading by Pat Montpetit. The reading was on the perfect wife taken from the book of Proverbs. The five points we discussed as applicable now as then were 1. Loyal devotion to family; 2. Joy in work; 3. Care of home and poor; 4. Having a cultivated mind; 5. Fear of the Lord. We felt that even though many women now work outside the home, and the society we live in is more permissive, these points are very much applicable today.

REPORTS HEARD

Mildred Klassen gave us a brief report on the Provincial annual meeting for development and peace she attended. A new parish representative is needed.

Mrs. Barry reported on the "Day of Recollection" that was attended in Athabasca by herself and Florence Quaghebeur. The talks by Fr. Laliberte and Fr. Laberge, along with the readings and meditations were very meaningful in guiding us to personally being thankful to the Lord. The theme was Thanksgiving.

We would like to congratulate the students who were the recipients of the CWL awards, Ron Kotchon, grade 11 and Agnes Heriveau, grade 10. May they continue the good work.

CALENDARS FOR SALE

The CWL now have for sale the church art calendars in French and English. These will be for sale before and after the Sunday masses as long as supplies last.

Due to the Penitential Celebration being held December 19 at 7:30, our next regular meeting will be held December 12 at 8 o'clock in the meeting room of the rectory.

Yvonne Blanchette very capably instructed the ladies on their first lesson in crochet and with some practice we should all be busy making granny squares for our afghan. A very special thanks to Yvonne.

An extra big thanks to all those who helped make our bazaar such a huge success. It was a lot of work for the ladies but they were all more than pleased when proceeds for the day totalled well over $500. The children had a great time at the "Fish Pond" and nearly everyone took home some goodies off the "Bake Table." Thanks again to everyone. Your support was greatly appreciated.

Winner of our raffle of two lovely floor cushions was Mrs. Louise Harper of Onoway.

SANTA TO VISIT

We understand there has been a conversation with Santa at the North Pole and he will be at the Sunnyside Hall on Sunday, December 17. Somewhere between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. He is a very busy man these days so we felt very fortunate that he could find time to come to Sunnyside. Bring your youngsters and have a cup of coffee and a visit. Any further questions please phone Ann Maxfield at 973-3706

NEW YEAR'S DANCE

It seems like a long time until New Year's Eve, but keep in mind Sunnyside will be having its annual New Year's dance and supper beginning at 7 p.m. with a hot turkey supper. Tickets this year are to be $20 per couple. Ann will also answer any of your questions concerning New Year's Eve.

Home from their trip to the Grey Cup are Don and Laura Potter. They had a great time and were thrilled over the Eskimo victory.

Just a reminder to all the ladies - don't forget the club's annual Christmas meeting to be held this year on Tuesday, December 12. Come out and find out who has been your Secret Sister all year.

The ladies had an early morning Hobo tea when they called on Brenda Boarse complete with cake and coffee. What a great way to spend the morning!

FIRE

The home of Jerry and Shannon Derouin was seriously damaged in a fire Sunday night. The fire department received a call at 7:15 p.m. during strong winds from the west. The fire was contained in the kitchen on the east side of the house, burning through the wall to the exterior of the house. There was extensive smoke damage throughout the house causing an estimated total of eight to nine thousand dollars damage in total. It is believed the fire was caused by an electrical fault in the Derouin's dishwasher. The family was not at home when the blaze occurred. A neighbour, Nick Prodaniuk spotted the fire and turned in the alarm.

The Redwater Ukrainian Dancing Club wishes to thank everyone who helped with the pyroghy supper held last Friday night. It was a great success especially due to the help of the mothers. Thank you to all who supported by attending.

READERS!!

The distribution of our newspaper is handled in three ways: on newsstands, through the mail, and by our team of carriers.

The vast majority of our readers prefer receiving the Gazette from our carriers, and it is their job to ensure that you get the Gazette as early as possible every Wednesday, what ever the weather.

Lately, the most difficult part of the carriers job has been collecting from customers. People, now are more on the go, and therefore more difficult to catch at home.

We shouldn't overlook the problems caused by holidays and moving. It is difficult to remember money owed to a carrier.

For greater convenience to all, we are hoping that our readers will take this opportunity to subscribe to the Gazette on a yearly basis.

You won't have to worry about having change on hand, or the carrier bothering you at inopportune moments. The carrier will save time working his or her route, therefore affording them more time with their friends, family and personal activities. The carrier will still receive full creditation for the delivery (.07¢ per paper delivered). If you are moving or taking holidays, just give us a call, and the necessary adjustments will be made(subscription extension, transfer, etc.).

If you move away, you can keep up on local news through the mail by having your paper follow you to your new address.

Simply fill in the coupon below and mail it to the Gazette, or drop by our office at 31 Perron Street.

Thank You
From all of us at the Gazette.

Coasting on the big river hill

By Margarette J. Atkinson

That "shooting range" which stands at the foot of what used to be our winter playground. Surely those "hunters" could find some old gravel pit or somewhere else to shoot their guns. Give back the hill to the children.

During the very early 30's, children found that hill (on the west side of the Sturgeon River near Gibbons) a great place to coast down all winter. It was big, wide and open. (Also safe) ... A whole lot safer than what they do now ... sliding down snow banks on to the traffic lanes.

That great river hill was a beautiful place to slide down. Some would pick out the spot they liked the best. Sanded wooden barrel staves made real good skis for younger children. Who could afford real skis during the early 30's?

A very clever man, who owned a lumber yard in Gibbons then, Ward Yeo used to boil the ends of the proper sized boards and bend the now softened end. He'd sand and then wax the skis he had made. A very ingenious man indeed.

Even during temperatures that went as low as 60 below we still spent most of our days on that hill.

The late John Milligan, father of the Gazette's Bon Accord news correspondent Sadie Allen and Jean Toane of "Gibbons Round-up," stood watching us coast down the hill. I offered him a ride on my sleigh, which he accepted with glee. Down went old John! (He was a big man). Spilling and laughing into the deep snow! Puffing as he climbed up that hill pulling my sleigh.

"Best place I ever saw for kids!" he roared.

That hill thrived during both spring and summer. Crocuses grew in great clusters along with tiger lillies and buttercups. Later of course, garter snakes crawled out into the sun to shed their "winter clothes."

Wild cactus grew during the hot summer days. Beautiful, waxy looking adorned with blossoms as they shone softly in the bright sun.

I think that hill thrived on the activities of children. Remember that story of that garden which was filled with blossoming trees, where children played and laughed? A wealthy man bought the property and the garden sat silent and alone. The grass grew wild, tall, then brown. The trees no longer blossomed. The man (for all his wealth) died and had no one to claim his property.

Once again children began to play there. Brown, tall grass no longer covered the ground. The trees took new life and blossomed forth gaily, almost like the chuckles of children.

Can that big river hill become a part of children's lives again, as it was in my childhood? You who need a rifle range, are your self interests more important that letting youngsters have a hill to coast down? Wouldn't it be far nicer to see them slide there than trying to find a little mound of snow by a roadway?

Sure, there are lots of "children's interests" in Gibbons, but did you ever see a child who doesn't either want to climb something or slide down something? By golly, you were once kids too, and I dare say you too would enjoy bumping your behind once again! Coasting down that big river hill with your grandchildren. I know you've done it before, just as I had. So get into your cars, find a "rifle range" and bring back the kids to that hill.

Alcomdale News

By Beryl Bailey

The Alcomdale Community League held its regular monthly meeting November 29th in their hall. Seven members were present. The cabaret held on November 25 was very successful with a good crowd and a pleasant evening for all who attended it. There will be a Christmas party held in the Alcomdale Community Hall sponsored by the league, for children. This will be held Sunday, December 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. All are welcome. Each parent is to bring a gift for each of their children. The price is limited to $2 per gift.

Other business discussed included the final plans for the bazaar and handicraft and bake sale on December 9, from 2 to 5 p.m. Tea is included in the 50¢ admission charge.

Tickets for the draw on the $50 money doll may be purchased from members of the league. The annual meeting of the community league will be held in the hall January 31, 1979. An invitation is extended to all residents in the district to attend and help their district by supporting the league.

Mrs. Melvin Mills entertained ladies of the district on November 22 at a Copper Guild party. Following the demonstration the hostess served a bountiful lunch.

During her husband's tour of duty in the far north, Mrs. Carl Moren had Mrs. Louis Luddigsen as a house guest. Mrs. Luddigsen of Edmonton is Mr. Moren's step-grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Doidge of Lockwood, Saskatchewan and son Jason, were weekend guests of the James Doidge's recently. During the visit, the two brothers and their families spent a short visit in Calgary.

Our first cold spell of the winter with temperatures below normal for the time of year, arrived last week accompanied by a substantial snowfall, winter is apparently here to stay.

The following item was noted in the Parry Sound Ontario, North Star paper. Two monks set up a fish and chip stand in front of the monastery during tourist season ... and a smart aleck tourist asked: "Are you the fish friar?" To which he replied, "No, I'm the chipmonk." Clever, I thought. Following recipe for roast camel came from the same paper -- Cooked eggs are stuffed into cooked fish -- the fish stuffed into cooked chickens -- the chickens stuffed into roast sheep and the sheep stuffed into a whole camel. It was suggested one might need some Tums!!

Light Horse Club News

By Laura Visscher

The Gibbons 4H Light Horse Club held their past meeting in the Gibbons Hall on November 19 at 1 p.m. There were several interesting topics discussed, such as the date for our annual Christmas party, which is planned for December 10 and if the weather permits an outdoor toboggan party is also planned, at the Minchau residence at 1 p.m. A gift exchange is also planned.

Another topic which was brought to our club's attention was public speaking, our club plans to hold the public speaking competition on February 4 at 12 in the Gibbons Legion, everyone is welcome to attend. Our club then enjoyed a very interesting demonstration put on by Susan and Teresa Minchau involving the making of a pair of chaps. I'm sure that both young and old enjoyed this interesting and informative demonstration. Next the members volunteered to display demonstrations for the future meetings, our two volunteers are Susie Buchanan and Melonie Berg. There was a total of 28 out of the clubs 30 members present at this meeting. So everyone is looking forward to our next event on the agenda which is the tobogan party.

Cattlemen reject imports

Canada being the only wide open beef market in the world. Mrs. Miles is not serving her constituents well in suggesting that consumers should support the doubtful short term benefits of unlimited imports against the long term stability of the domestic industry.

We are currently at the bottom of the current beef cycle said Brown and it is important that cattlemen begin re-building their herds in order to assure beef supplies in 1980 and beyond. If quotas are removed at this important point in the decision making process, many cattlemen will lose confidence in the long term viability of the industry and will continue the sell down of heir cow herds.

Further than that, the idea that beef prices are unreasonably high or supplies too low is a myth. Over the past several years beef prices have not advanced as strongly as consumer incomes. The cattlemen are certainly prepared to discuss with Government or other groups fair and equitable import levels for 1979 and have frequently suggested that some form of beef import act would provide more security and stability for both producers and consumers. However, said Brown, we cannot and will not accept any action that will remove the very low level of protection that Canadian producers now have against an erratic and highly unstable world market. We hope that consumers across Canada will not only be sympathetic to the need for producers to improve their income position but will also recognize that in the long term the interests of producers lie in having our own efficient and competitive beef production industry.

Saints win streak now at seven games

Overtime goals by Perry Zaparniuk and Ken Solheim in 2-1 and 5-4 wins over Fort Saskatchewan and a 7-5 win in Red Deer increased the St. Albert Junior Saints winning streak to seven games in the wild and woolly Alberta Junior "A" Hockey League.

Zaparniuk's goal with 6.07 gone in sudden death overtime last Tuesday in the Fort gave St. Albert a 2-1 win while Ken Solheim needed only 31 seconds Sunday night in the Fort to give the Saints a come-from-behind 5-4 win.

Saints also took time out last Thursday to travel to Red Deer where they beat the hometown Rustlers 7-5.

The three wins moved the Saints into a second place tie with the Traders, with the Saints having a game in hand.

Both clubs have 32 points, eight behind league leading Calgary Canucks who have played 27 games compared to 24 by St. Albert and 25 by the Fort.

Canucks won both weekend games as they won 8-5 over the visiting Sherwood Park Crusaders Friday night and then handed the cross-town Calgary Chinooks a 7-4 loss Sunday.

Crusaders had a miserable road trip losing all three games as they fell 5-2 to Taber Golden Suns Sunday and 7-1 to the Chinooks Saturday. Crusaders have now gone 10 games without a win and are in last place in the seven-team league.

Tuesday in the Fort saw Claude Bara give the Saints a 1-0 first period lead only to have Terry Oakes tie it up in the second. The third period was scoreless as Saints Pierre Lamoureux and Traders Clint Malarchuk came up with some excellent saves in their respective nets.

The always hustling Perry Zaparniuk beat Malarchuk from close in with 6.07 gone in overtime to give the Saints a well deserved 2-1 win.

Saints outshot the Traders 41 to 38 and both clubs split 10 penalties handed out by referee Ron Panchyshyn.

Thursday night saw the Saints in Red Deer in a game that they dominated from start to finish.

Zaparniuk, Mark Messier and Mickey Volcan paced the Saints scoring attack with two goals each while Troy Murray added the other in the Saints 7-5 win.

Sunday night back at the Fort appeared to be the end of the Saints winning streak as the hometown Traders jumped into a 4-0 lead with only 15.09 gone in the opening period.

Dean Dachyshyn finally got the Saints on the scoreboard beating Trader goalie Clint Malarchuk at 17.58.

St. Albert took command in the second period and received goals from Jeff Marshall and Mark Messier to trail by only one goal going into the final 20 minutes of play.

Saints coach Doug Messier sent out Claude Bara who had seen limited action up to that point and the big winger tied the score at four each tapping a loose puck into an empty net at 6.18 as Malarchuk got trapped out after making a save off Mickey Volcan.

Both clubs had many excellent scoring chances in the final 10 minutes of the period but both goaltenders came up with outstanding saves to send the game into sudden death overtime for the second game in a row between the two teams.

MICKEY VOLCAN

Ken Solheim didn't waste any time making it sudden death for the Traders as he scored a beautiful goal with only 31 seconds gone. Troy Murray and Mickey Volcan combined to set up Solheim who beat Malarchuk cleanly from about 15 feet out on a wrist shot.

After a shaky first period young Brian Ford settled down and had a strong game in goal for the Saints stopping 40 shots while Malarchuk had 34.

Referee Nick Slywka handed out 14 penalties with the Saints getting nine.

Saints welcomed the return of defenseman Mickey Volcan from the injured list where he missed 11 games with a dislocated elbow. Volcan has now played the last four games scoring two goals and adding six assists for eight points.

Sweet revenge for Panthers

The Pro Western Panthers avenged their earlier 4-3 defeat to the Spruce Grove Pats with a hard fought 5-2 victory over the Grove Sunday night in Spruce Grove.

The match was rough and aggressive, with the Panthers receiving 19 out of 23 minor penalties handed out by the officials. However, most of the rough stuff occurred in the second period. The Panthers also had two players who took game misconducts.

The first frame, which actually was quite clean, saw the Pro Western boys take a 3-0 lead, with goals coming from Jim Sawchuk (two) and Duane Sopiwnyk. Pat Quaghebeur added assists to both Sawchuk goals, while Darrell Wakefield and Barry Thachuk earned helpers.

Spruce Grove picked up the only goal of the middle stanza, with Hort firing one home from McMeekan and Begin.

In the third, the Grove made it a 3-2 contest on a marker from Blackburn, with Callihoo getting the assist. Dave Lacroix popped in the insurance marker midway through the period on a set-up by Quaghebeur, and a minute later, Quaghebeur himself found the net, with Sawchuk getting a well deserved assist.

The aggressiveness of the second period settled down in the third, to make the game another interesting battle between these two rivals.

The Panthers record is impressive, winning five and losing just one, the loss to the Pats a week and a half ago.

Pro Western will be taking a lay-off until Wednesday, December 13, when they will travel to Calahoo. In the meantime, the Panthers will be lining up an exhibition encounter to stay in the winning form they are enjoying.

All-star game in Gibbons Sunday

Hockey fans will be in for a treat this Sunday at the Gibbons arena when the hometown Marlows of the Sturgeon Valley Senior Hockey League will play a touring NHL Oldtimer's hockey team in an exhibition game.

The game starts at 2 p.m. sharp.

Some of the more noteable names on the Edmonton roster who have played pro hockey are: Craig Cameron (Minnesota North Stars), Bob Solinger (Toronto Maple Leafs), Lloyd Haddon (Detroit Red Wings), Ray Kinasewich (Detroit Red Wings) Gerry Melnyk (Philadelphia Flyers), Bruce McGregor (New York Rangers), Bill Bucyk (Detroit Red Wings), Gord Buttrey (Chicago Black Hawks), Bob Falkenberg (Edmonton Oilers), and Ron Walters (Edmonton Oilers).

Although the Oldtimers may be a little older they still have not forgotten where the net is and their excellent puck control and positional play will no doubt result in a victory.

The Marlows are currently tied for top spot in the eight-team Sturgeon League having won four of the five games played to date.

CHED 'Slamdunkers' to play locals

The Ched radio sports team, comprised of announcers and technicians and writers, who go under the name "Slamdunkers," will be in town to play the Ron Hodgson St. Albert Oldtimers Tuesday, December 12.

The hockey game, to be played at Akinsdale arena at 7 p.m., will be in support of Santa's Anonymous. Admission to the game will be an unwrapped toy for a needy boy or girl.

The members of the Oldtimer squad are particularly happy to see that Ched editorialist Eddie Keen will be in net for the Slamdunkers. They figure it's about time that someone took a shot at Mr. Keen.

It has also been learned that Santa Claus will be making an appearance to keep an eye on the situation.

Hellof(s) a victory

By Marty O'Kell

For some reason, it didn't seem like the final of a $16,000 curling classic. It probably was the score that did the damage. There was no tension or breath-holding.

In fact it was all over after the fourth end, in a way.

North Battleford, Sask. curler Gord Hellofs and his buddies rather easily thumped former area resident and now of Osoyoos, B.C., Pee Wee Quintal 10-3 in eight ends of play. Hellofs and his crew, lead Reg Cawood, second John Kabaroff and third Alvin Welychko, will take home $6,000 to split between themselves. The Quintal rink, actually skipped by Pee Wee's son Ticker, will share $3,000 in prize money in the second annual Hec Gervais Curling Classic, held over the weekend at the St. Albert Curling Club.

After the presentation in the "Friendly Giant Inn", Hellofs said, "They were off to a shaky start, and then we stole three in the fourth, it happened so fast I wasn't too sure what was happening." What happened was the Hellofs rink jumped to a 5-1 lead after four. Quintal picked up one in the fifth, then the Saskatchewan boys added four more in the sixth to make it a 9-2 skunking.

Hellofs added; "It was a good, tough spiel, and I'm fortunate to be in the final, because I missed a couple of shots against Paul Devlin in the semi's." Hellofs edged by Devlin 5-4, but had to come from behind and steal one in the 10th to win.

Quintal had an easier time of his semi-final opponent, Bob Hawkins. Quintal romped over the Derrick-based curler 10-2. Hawkins and Devlins' rinks will split $1,500 each.

Quarter final losers Bob McMaster of St. Albert, Darwin Daviduk of the Shamrock, Crestwood's Robb King and Gerry Wilson of Ottewell will share $1,000 each with their rink partners.

Classic namesake Hec Gervais said, "the ice was good and straight, and that kept the scores fairly low." Gervais and his rink were knocked out of the Classic midway through. Gervais, however, will be competing in the World Open Spiel that begins tomorrow. Gervais will have a different rink for that spiel, with Lorne Reed, Barry Weaver and Stan Austman sweeping alongside the "giant."

Gord Hellofs also will be in the World Open. And you can bet he'd like to take some more money home with him.

IT LOOKS ALRIGHT FROM HERE BOYS

Harvey Murray lets this rock go with Jerry Fisher (centre) and Pee Wee Quintal keeping a close watch on it during the Hec Gervais Curling Classic final. The Quintal rink lost to Gord Hellofs by a decisive 10-3 count.

Angels split two; but win Ex

Last Thursday the CKST Angels Midget B team travelled out to Calahoo to tangle with the Edmonton Knights of Columbus midgets in an exhibition encounter.

Both teams displayed some good hockey, and in particular the K of C's with their fine positional play, but the Angels hard work paid off for them as they downed the Edmonton club 7-3.

The Angels opened up the scoring early in the first period, when Mike Murphy scored his first of three for the night at the .57 second mark. Jamie Sander and Dave MacDougall combined on a nice passing play to set up Murphy.

Three minutes later, Sander took a lead pass from Murray Pennington and found the corner of the net to make it 2-0. Murphy notched goal number two six minutes later unassisted.

The K of C's got back into the game early in the second, when Don Caron backhanded one past the Angel netminder while on the powerplay. Midway through the second, MacDougall fought for the puck along the boards, picked up the loose puck and took it in to score unassisted.

Joe Ainsley passed the puck from the corner to John Hesse, who fired a hard shot to make it a 5-1 game in favor of CKST.

Three minutes into the final frame the K of C's found the mark again as Barret tucked the puck into the Angel net in a goalmouth scramble. Leonard and Caron added assists.

The Angels came right back two minutes later when Don Trembath fed MacDougall, who blasted a hard shot from just inside the blueline. With 8.15 remaining in the period, the Knights capitalized on a three on one break, with Swilyk jabbing a rebound home, while assists went to Caron and Barrett.

Two minutes down the road Murphy got his hat trick marker for the Angels, after he took a feed from Doug McCarthy and tucked the puck into the corner of the net. That finalized the scoring, with the Angels emerging as 7-3 victors.

ANGELS BOMB REDWATER

Saturday the CKST squad travelled out to Redwater and had no problem finding the scoring touch as they trounced the homers 6-1.

Hesse scored from close in to put some ink on the scoresheet first. Dave Bell and McCarthy were given assists for their efforts on the play. Ainsley ended the first period scoring with a minute and a half left as he drilled a hard shot past the Redwater netminder. McCarthy added his second assist of the period.

In the second, Hesse picked up his second goal of the game while the Angels were playing shorthanded. Doug McCarthy earned an assist on the 2 on 1 break.

McCarthy decided to get in on the scoring act, when he found himself in front of the Redwater net. Bell and Ainsley combined to give the puck to McCarthy, who had no trouble scoring.

Redwater opened up the third period scoring when R. Hickey passed over to J. Kammermeyer, who let go a rocket that beat the Angel netminder.

Hesse picked up a hat trick midway through the third with an assist going to McCarthy. Just over a minute later, McCarthy added one of his own to make it a 6-1 game. Bell earned an assist.

ANGELS TRIPLED IN SHERWOOD PARK

Sunday found the Angels still on the road, this time in Sherwood Park for another league game. Sherwood Park proved to be a little too much for CKST as they bowed to them by a 6-2 score.

St. Albert got on the scoreboard first on a goal from Jamie Sander, with assists going to Mike Murphy and Mike Carwell.

Sherwood Park took the lead with two quick goals, one from Hunter and the other from Wagoner.

The Park took complete control of the second period, managing to find the net three times. Hunter picked up two more goals while Gardener added a single.

The Angels hit the scoreboard again midway through the third when McCarthy rapped home a tip pass from Hesse. Blaine Malanchen also picked up an assist.

Three minutes later Sherwood's Sutherland scored to round out the games marksmanship.

IT'S ALL OURS

A gathering took place Monday at the St. Albert Inn between the St. Albert Games Committee, the Alberta Games Council and the Provincial Department of Recreation, Parks and Wildlife in order to get aquainted in preparation for the Alberta Summer Games to be held in St. Albert in August of 1979. Another purpose of the meeting was officially sign the documents that outlines the co-operation between the Government and the City of St. Albert in staging the Games. In the above picture, Don Skagen, seated at left, and Mayor Ron Harvey sign the document. Looking on behind them is, from left to right, Ken Jesperson, Tom Humphries, Al "Boomer" Adair, Dwight Ganske and Dick Fowler.

Carma's Bantams split weekend games

Last weekend saw the Carma's St. Albert Bantams win an exhibition game with the Whitecourt Toros; and lose to Sherwood Park Loadstars in league action.

The Saturday game at Calahoo was a fast, hard-hitting game, with St. Albert coming away with a 5-3 win. Goal scorers were: John Findlay with two; Tony Rouault, Don Neil and John Lenz. Assists went to: Brian Chai with three; John Holden with three; John Lenz and Mike Wells. Goaltending was shared by Chris Lane and Mike Willems who together faced 18 shots, while their Whitecourt counterparts faced 32 shots.

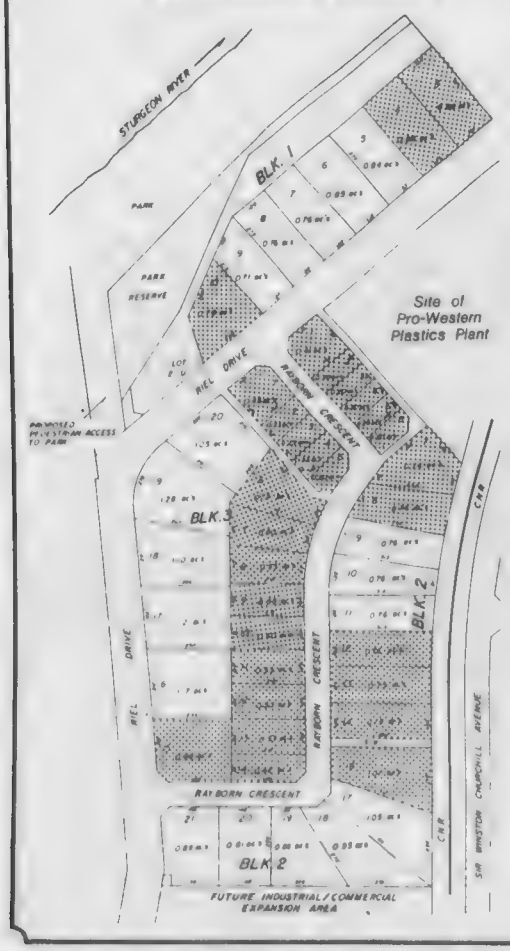

Sunday's action with the Sherwood Park Loadstars was another hard-hitting game, with the Loadstars outplaying the Carma's and capitalizing on their power-play opportunities - with three of their four goals on the man-advantage. The final score was 4-1 in favor of the Loadstars; even though they were outshot 32 - 19 by the Carma's. The first goal came at the 8:31 mark of the first period on a hard shot from the right point by the Park's captain Morelli.

The second period saw St. Albert and Sherwood Park each take three penalties; with Sherwood Park coming away with three unanswered goals on their opportunities. At 4:41 the Park got their second goal of the game with John Lenz off for hooking, at 8:58, with John Holden off for hooking, the Park came up with their second power-play goal of the period at 17:37, with Tony Baller off for interference, the Loadstars made it 4-0.

In the third period, St. Albert came out skating, but hot goaltending by the Loadstars thwarted their efforts until 15:36 with a two man-advantage, Erin Oor finally put the Carma's on the scoreboard for their only goal, on a fine play by John Holden and Mike Wells. Carma's next home game is Saturday, December 16 at the Perron Arena at 7 p.m.

RMC Peewee BB Saints edged twice

The RMC Saints are finding some tough competition in the Sturgeon Pembina Peewee League. They lost twice to the Sherwood Park team over the weekend to extend their losing streak to four games.

They started early in the week tying Evansdale 5-5 in exhibition play. On Saturday they were dropped 5-4 in Sherwood Park. On Sunday at home they were trimmed 4-3 by Sherwood Park.

RMC 5 - Evansdale 5

On Monday, November 27, the Saints travelled to Edmonton to play the Evansdale Peewee team and came away with a last minute 5-5 tie. The Saints jumped off to a 1-0 first period lead on a goal by Tim Korz. He was sent away on a nice pass by Gord Trembath.

After two periods St. Albert led 3-2 on two goals by Don Bremault. Brent Webber assisted on the second goal. In the third period the Saints fell behind 5-4 late in the game. Gord Trembath scored St. Albert's fourth goal on a set-up by Mike Holzer. With less than two minutes remaining and RMC trailing 5-4 Trent Rees fired the tying goal with assists going to Eric Olsen and Greg Amyotte.

This game served the purpose of helping the boys regain their confidence after being beaten twice by Morinville last weekend.

Sher. Pk. 5 - RMC 4

In league action Saturday afternoon the RMC Saints were handed a tough loss by the Sherwood Park team. The Saints jumped off to a 1-0 first period lead and trailed 4-2 after two. They dropped behind 5-2 early in the third period but came back to tally two goals and end up on the short end of a 5-4 score.

Brent Webber scored an unassisted goal in the first period with Darryl Ethier firing one in the second. Greg Amyotte and Trent Rees picked up assists on Ethier's goal.

In the third period St. Albert's goals came off the sticks of Billy Mitchell and Eric Olsen. Don Bremault picked up the assist on Mitchell's goal while Tim Korz and Brent Webber drew assists on Olsen's.

Coaches Ed Alpaugh, Ovila Amyotte and Terry Shaw were quite happy with the team's performance and felt with a few breaks they could have picked up a win. The shots on goal were as close as the score as both teams fired 28 shots. Todd Shaw who played the whole game in goal for the Saints turned in a strong performance once again.

Sher. Pk. 4 - RMC 3

On Sunday in St. Albert the Saints jumped off to an early 1-0 lead in the first period on an unassisted goal by Wilf Keiser. Sherwood Park evened the score before the end of the period.

In the second period Keiser fired his second goal on a break-away on a play started by Eric Olsen. Sherwood Park came back and fired two goals before Gord Trembath scored a beautiful short-handed goal. He checked the Sherwood Park defenseman and went in unmolested to beat the Park's goaltender easily. The second period ended 3-3. Sherwood Park scored the winner early in the third period on a shot from behind the net that deflected in off a Saints' defenseman.

The Saints will now prepare for a single game next weekend in the Park on Saturday afternoon.

Fitness study has positive impact on industry

Over 60,000 private and public sector employees in 51 Canadian companies and organizations jogged and exercised their way through the Canadian Public Health Association's new Employee Fitness Program this year, with very positive results.

As a result of the CPHA program, sponsored by the Fitness and Amateur Sport Branch of Health and Welfare Canada, more than 60 percent of the participating companies and organizations continue to operate an independent program on a permanent basis, using one or more of the six program components. Another 20 percent are negotiating the employment of a fitness co-ordinator to carry on with the full program. Such a positive impact on business and industry will facilitate the development of future programs in the occupational setting of the Canadian work force.

The thrust of the 1978 program focused on awareness and motivation. Its main objectives were to sensitize business and industry to the value and benefit of physical activity and a healthy lifestyle for their employees, and to develop, implement and evaluate basic components of employee fitness programs in business and industry.

The study prompted such employee participation feats as climbing over 30,000 stairs at the Department of Health in Nova Scotia; accumulated walking in excess of the mileage to Vancouver by Scott Paper employees in Quebec; jogging, walking and bicycling for achievement awards by over 200 employees at the Ottawa Civic Hospital. In Western Canada, a weekend cross-city walkathon resulted in over 100 participants marching across Regina in spite of inclement weather. In the North, community interest was so strong that the project in Yellowknife expanded from the initial project site at the Territorial government offices into the community at large.

It is anticipated that a final report of the program will be submitted by the CPHA to the Fitness and Amateur Sport Branch in early 1979.

Mohawk Oil Co. Ltd. has now completed expansion of their location in St. Albert. Open 24 hours.

Mohawk Oil Co. is a 100% Canadian owned company run by and for Canadians.

From a modest start in 1961, Mohawk has grown steadily throughout the years and is presently the largest, independent oil company in Western Canada with over 250 stations in the four western provinces and recent expansion into Ontario.

Mohawk was a Canadian Pioneer in developing the concepts of mass merchandising and 24 hour day/7 days per week operation - much needed services to the motoring public.

Over the past several years, the company was faced with the growing trend toward 'one stop shopping' convenience outlets. Again Mohawk responded to the requirements of the motoring public by expanding and adding grocery items to the wide range of merchandise already offered.

Mohawk Oil and the manager and staff at Mohawk St. Albert Service, are pleased to announce the December 8th Grand Opening of their spacious, attractively displayed store. Come in and browse through our automotive section. We also offer hardware, groceries, frozen food, dairy products, fishing supplies and one of the most modern stereo and tape centres in Northern Alberta.

We are pleased to have as tenants, Farlie Travel Ltd. which will be sponsoring a trip for two (destination to be announced later). Mohawk Oil Company will be providing $500 spending money for the winner of the trip.

Do come in and meet our courteous staff.

High School Basketball here

The St. Albert High basketball teams are well underway in preparations for the upcoming season, which is just around the corner. Both the boys and girls teams are busy with practices, and will be very busy when the games and tournaments start very soon. There is a feeling around St. Albert High that the teams, with the boys under new head coach Ron Martyna from Grant MacEwan College will be quite competitive this year.

The annual Alumni games will be held at St. Albert High, Sunday, December 10. The girls play at 1 p.m., and the boys will play at 3 p.m. Everyone is welcome to this display of fine basketball.

The St. Albert High wrestling team is off to a roaring start, and appear to be a real challenge to their opposition ... so look out!

Legal Canadiens dump Redwater

The Legal Canadiens came back from Redwater Sunday with a hard fought 9-6 victory over the Redwater Outlaws in Sturgeon Valley senior hockey action.

The Canadiens opened up a 3-1 lead after the first period with goals coming from Rick Provencal, Richard St. Martin and Peter Provencal. Terry Krychy found the mark for Redwater.

In the second, Legal received goals from Rick Provencal and Dennis Chamberland, while Redwater popped in four goals to tie the game up at 5-5. Scoring for the Outlaws were Tom Sokolowski, Brent Clark, Don Keller and Walt Wolansky.

The Canadiens outgunned the Outlaws in the final frame to score the win, with Legal markers from Rick Provencal with his third of the game, Peter Provencal with his second, Leo Provencal, and Dennis Chamberland with his second. Finding the net for Redwater was Tom Sokoloski.

The officials handed out a total of 13 minors, seven to Legal and six to Redwater, with the Outlaws picking up a 10 minute misconduct.

On November 29, the Canadiens were on the short end of an 8-5 score in a game with the Morinville Frontiersmen in Morinville.

Legals next two games are both at home. On December 8, Calahoo will be in Legal with the game starting at 8:30, and on the 10th, the Alexander Braves will provide the competition, with game time at 1:45.

Oilers harpooned

By Marty O'Kell

The biggest crowd in all of the WHA to date watched the Edmonton Oilers end their six game winning streak, losing badly to the New England Whalers 7-0 Sunday night at the Coliseum.

The performance of the Oilers, which was an abrupt turnabout from Friday night when they beat the Whalers 8-2, was mediocre at best and dismal at times. It looked as if the Oilers figured their impressive winning streak would continue as long as they showed up on the ice.

The first period indicated it might have been a good, close contest, with both squads taking the puck from end to end with clean, wide open play.

The Whalers took a lead with the only first period goal by Dave Keon, who blasted a shot past Ed Mio from the left side.

In the second, the New England marksmen took their aims carefully and didn't miss very often. Goals came from Mike Antonovich with two, and Mark Howe, who also had two.

The Oilers didn't even bother to make a game out of it and let the Whalers rocket home two more in the third. Antonovich picked up his third of the night, and Jack Carlson iced the cake with his second of the year midway through the final frame.

It was a totally different story on Friday, when the Oilers completely dominated the Whalers in their 8-2 victory. The hot line of Stan Weir, Blair MacDonald and Brett Callighen had another good evening, with MacDonald collecting a hat trick, and Weir adding two.

Last Tuesday, the Indianapolis Racers were at the Coliseum taking a similar 8-2 beating at the hands of Edmonton.

The Oilers won six out of their seven games in this last home stand, and now take to the road for five games. They'll be playing in Quebec tonight, New England tomorrow, Saturday in Birmingham, Sunday in Indianapolis, and next Tuesday in Cincinnati.

The Oilers next home game is on December 15, when they will be taking on the Soviet All-Stars, in a game that will count in the league standings. On the 17th, a Swedish all-star team will do battle with the Oilers in an exhibition encounter.

Every little helps!

Conserving electricity now can make a big difference to our electrical future.

Conservation doesn't mean lowering your lifestyle. It means good energy management. Use what you need—but need what you use!

Why? For one thing, we have to use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity. For another, the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating.

The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now. And the more you'll help keep future cost increases to a manageable level.

Our Energy Management Action Kit is full of ideas. Send for it and make the switch to energy management now.

Every little helps! Many ways to conserve electricity are little ways. You'll find just a few of them listed here.

Four ways you can help.

1. Turning off lights when not needed does save electricity.
2. Small appliances generally use less electricity than larger ones. For small amounts of cooking, use your frypan as a "mini-oven".
3. Wash only full loads in your dishwasher.
4. Plan your energy day to avoid using major appliances during the 5-7 p.m. "peak load" period.

USE ENERGY WISELY

Conserve.
It's worth the energy!

Mites Bruins in tourney

Despite being the underdogs in the Mites' hockey tournament staged in Ponoka this weekend, the St. Albert 'B' Bruins faced off against 11 "A" rated teams representing Bashaw, Sherwood Park, Sylvan Lake, Wetaskiwin, Rimbey, Ponoka and Red Deer, and came within one game of winning a championship.

Rebounding from a 7-3 loss at the hands of Sylvan Lake Flyers, the Bruins outscored Wetaskiwin 3-1 and squeaked by Bashaw 2-1 in overtime to earn a berth in the "B" division final with Sherwood Park. Experience finally paid off, however, as Sherwood Park hit the ice playing Sunday to hold the hometown boys scoreless in their final match.

In back-to-back games, Darren Perrott, displaying heroic goaltending abilities, sparked the Bruins drive, allowing only a single goal against Wetaskiwin, then keeping his team close in what appeared to be a losing cause against Bashaw. With less than three minutes remaining in the game, Lore Ketsa scored to even the count and pave the way for Greg Martin's winning tally in overtime.

The Bruins more than met their match in the final Sunday, suffering a 13-0 shellacking by Sherwood Park. Although somewhat disappointed, Coach Larry Ketsa remained undaunted. "The boys played extremely well and have nothing to be ashamed about. They enjoyed the tournament and that, in the long run, is what it's all about."

Amateur baseball award to be presented

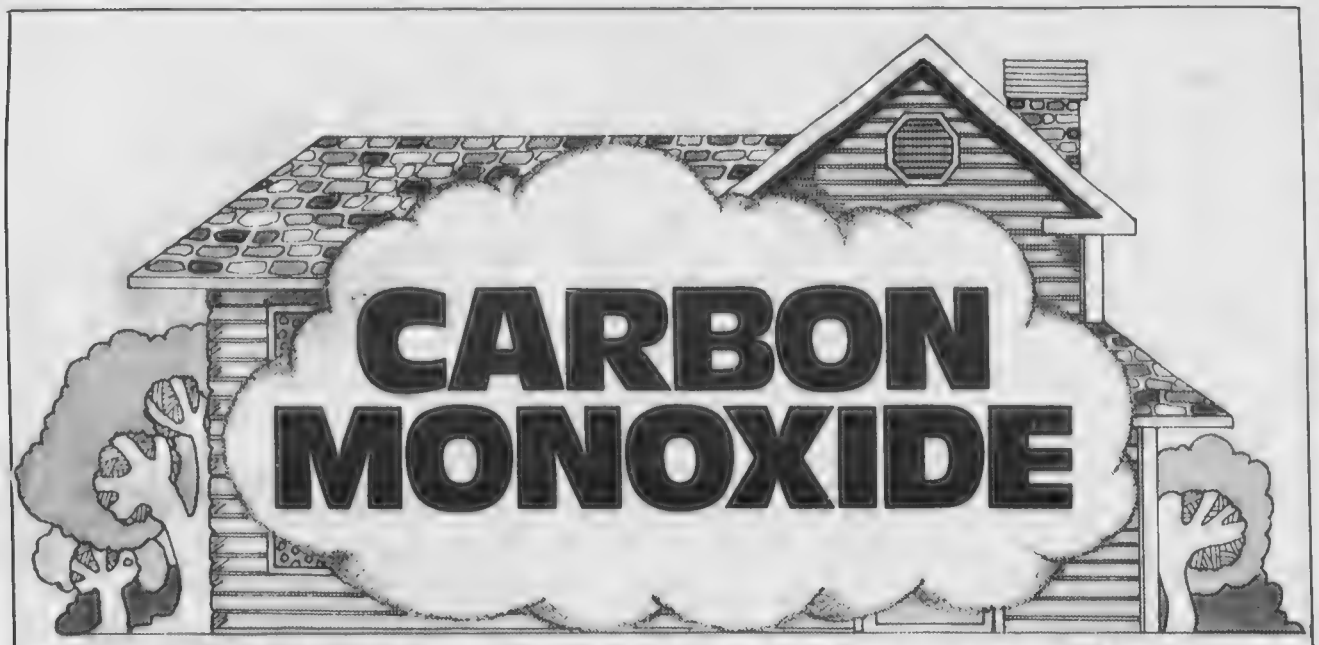

Five nominations have been received for the 1978 Carling O'Keefe Award of Merit, amateur baseball's top individual award in Alberta.

Ron Hayter of Edmonton, chairman of the award's board of trustees and selection committee, said the nominees are Bert Knibbs, Bow Island; Harold W. Knight, Irricana; Joe Lebeuf, Wanham; Dave Rosentreter and Wayne Lalor, Red Deer; and Dan Smith of Edmonton.

The award is designed to recognize persons who, through their dedication, conduct and activities, have made a valuable contribution to the development and betterment of amateur baseball, Mr. Hayter explained.

Last year's winner was Paul Hargas, of Warburg. Earlier recipients were Harvey Doherty, Westlock; Ron Hayter, Edmonton; Dave Plotsky, Sherwood Park; Larry Smith, Lethbridge; George Behm, Edmonton, and Doris Taylor, Sherwood Park.

The award will be presented December 10 at the annual meeting of the Alberta Baseball Association in St. Albert.

Get to know it. You could save a life.

Carbon monoxide strikes quickly. Because you can't see, feel or smell it. But it can kill you or members of your family. Learning about carbon monoxide poisoning is the best way of fighting it.

Know the Symptoms

If you or members of your household develop these symptoms, get into the fresh air and notify your gas company immediately. Watch for:

- a headachy feeling
- tightness across the forehead and in the temples
- loss of muscular control
- watering and smarting of the eyes
- weariness, weakness, dizziness, vomiting

Know About Prevention

Carbon monoxide gas may be formed through faulty combustion in your gas appliances. You can prevent its formation by following these steps:

- use only approved gas appliances
- have qualified experts install gas appliances
- give gas appliances an abundant air supply
- keep gas appliances in good condition
- report excessive rusting and carbon on your water heater to the gas company
- report escaping fumes to the gas company
- keep the furnace fan compartment door closed and secure at all times
- clean furnace filters before the heating season begins and then as required
- report irregular flame patterns to the gas company

For more information on carbon monoxide poisoning and other household dangers, visit your nearest gas company office and pick up a copy of our free pamphlets "Take Time For Home Heating Safety" and "Home Safe Home".

Provincial figure skating championships here

It's here! That week of busy-ness promised to all members last fall. Yes, that's right. The Provincial Sectional Championships, hosted by our own St. Albert Figure Skating Club is being held this week. Competitors will have the use of both arenas for practices on Wednesday, December 6 and for the competitions beginning Thursday, December 7 and continuing through till Saturday, December 9.

Good luck and our best wishes go to our St. Albert Club skaters, Kevin Malinowski and Bonnie Sliwa, who will compete in the Pre-Novice Dance Thursday afternoon, and to St. Albert residents Susan Clarke, competing in Juvenile Ladies Singles, and Denni-Lou Gibson, competing in the Pre-Novice Ladies Singles.

Response to the recent questionnaire re: "adult skating program," was great. A program for adults will be offered in the new year. If you are interested in learning to skate or improving your skills on ice and have not yet given your name, please fill out the questionnaire (see advertisement again in this week's Gazette) and send it in to the club. We want to make sure enough ice time is asked for to meet the requirements. We would appreciate your response before December 12. There should be information regarding time and fees in this paper two weeks from now.

Another beautiful trophy is on display in "our window" in "our club room" awaiting presentation next spring. It arrived mysteriously this past week. It is too big and too beautiful to have emerged from the woodwork! I hear there is a donor who didn't want to have a picture in the paper. Anyway, thank you very much, donor, for the trophy called the Jackie Malinowski Congeniality Award! I'm sure it won't be any easy decision to make this award, for there are so many skaters already showing their congenial selves.

We now have a telephone in our club room. Our club says thank you to Mr. Weller for installing the conduit which was necessary before AGT could install the telephone.

Did you all get your Laura Secord Fruit Cake? Isn't it moist and tasty? If you haven't and would like one, ask a skating member or someone on the executive. The cakes will also be on sale during the competitions.

Marty O'Kell On Sports

It's time to have a good look at the sports facilities in this town ... sorry, City.

Let's start off with arenas and ice rinks.

Perron arena ... built several years ago, was St. Albert's first indoor ice facility. The Kinsmen had a lot to do with the building of this building. It served its purpose well, I think, brought a great excitement to hockey here. I remember going almost every Friday night to watch the St. Albert Comets a few years back. The place was almost packed every time. Lots of fun. Pretty good senior hockey, too. The arena looks older than it really is, however, and that is the only fault it has. On a scale of one to 10, I'll give it a seven.

Then there is the Akinsdale arena. Not quite a year old. It's a really nice arena, in my opinion, but it's major shortcoming is its seating capacity. Where the Perron arena has a capacity of about 800 people, the Akinsdale arena has a little less. Why? I don't know. Poor planning, I believe. Someone's not looking down the road a few years. The Akinsdale facility should have a seating capacity of about 1,500. It has pretty good ice, though, and that's good, because you can see some good, fast hockey there. A City of this size should definitely have a bigger arena. Lloydminster's arena, the main one, has a seating capacity of about 2,000, and the town only has a population of about 13,000. We have a population of double that. Yet our new arena has a seating capacity of one third. Something doesn't sound right here. On the scale, I'll give it a five.

St. Albert doesn't lack outdoor rinks, though. When the Akinsdale and Grosvenor rinks are repaired, (damage due to fires), there will be a grand total of eight facilities, all of which I think, have two rinks at each location. If my math isn't too far out, that's one rink for every 1,900 people. On the scale, a nine.

If you take into account all ice surfaces in St. Albert, there's a rink for every 1,600 people. Then you take into consideration the amount of people who skate, and it's probably around one rink for every 800 winter daredevils. I think that's a healthy ratio.

One idea I really like is the clearing and flooding of the Sturgeon River. The City deserves a pat on the back for this. With a light snowfall glistening in the lights along the bank, it makes beautiful skating. It's almost a scene from a postcard. And if the City manages to clear off the Lacombe Lake, that will prove to be another ideal spot for family skating. If the City keeps ahead of the winter weather, they'll get a 10 out of 10 on this.

Somehow I'm not being as critical as I thought I would. Oh well, maybe next week, when I review swimming pools, tennis courts and fields (soccer, football, baseball).

Baseball co-ordinator for Games

Orville Franchuk of St. Albert, has been appointed baseball co-ordinator for the 1979 Alberta Summer Games in St. Albert.

The appointment was announced by Bob O'Brien, president of the Alberta Baseball Association.

Franchuk, playing manager for the Edmonton Tigers, replaces Edmonton's Brian McInroy who had to relinquish the post due to illness.

Mr. O'Brien said Midget would be the category of baseball played in the games.

He also has appointed Nick Shmyrko of Waskatenau and formerly of Picardville, as acting umpire-in-chief for the provincial body.

Ron Hodgson Pontiacs continue winning ways

The St. Albert Ron Hodgson Pontiacs had another successful week in Juvenile "A" hockey action. In an exhibition match, the Pontiacs came out on top of the Edmonton Sturgeon Auto Body team by an 8-6 count, and in league play, stung the Leduc Stingers 11-3.

A week ago tonight, the Pontiacs hosted the fast skating Sturgeon Auto Body crew at the Akinsdale arena in a wide open contest highlighted by Colin Tooth's hat trick and a three point night by Keith Heyburn, including a pair of markers.

Rob Tooth turned the red light on first at the 4.44 mark, and from then on, the locals were never behind. The first stanza ended 4-2 in favor of St. Albert as Colin Tooth fired two and Heyburn one.

The visitors narrowed the gap to 6-5 after the second, when Auto Body captain Bob McQuisten fired two, giving him a hat trick for the night, and John Archibald knocked in a goal on a picture play. John Provincial and Colin Parayko scored for the Pontiacs to retain the lead.

COLIN PARAYKO
Hat trick against Leduc

Heyburn and Colin Tooth put the Ron Hodgson crew ahead by three in the final period before the visitors got their final goal past Brent Galbraith in the Pontiac net in the dying seconds.

Sturgeon currently hold down third place in the six team Northwest Division of the Edmonton Federation Juvenile league, with McQuisten tied for second in the individual scoring race.

St. Albert 11 - Leduc 3

Several Pontiac players had a big night as the Stingers fell victim to St. Albert for the fifth straight time this season.

Parayko, Ken Young, Kent Middleton and Todd Winquist all added four points to their totals. Parayko broke out of a scoring slump with three goals, Young picked up his fourth and fifth of the season, while the latter two added single markers.

The Pontiacs jumped to a 4-0 first period lead on goals by Provincial, Jeff Harmon, Brad Hancock and Young.

Winquist stretched the margin to five midway through the second before the Stingers finally got one by Scott Gannon, who was guarding the twine for the locals. Parayko ended the scoring in the middle section converting passes from Young and Calvin McCauley.

The visitors narrowed the gap to 6-3 early in the third, but an unassisted effort by Young seconds later took the "sting" out of their attack. Two more by Parayko, and singles from the sticks of Middleton and Colin Tooth completed the romp.

PONTIAC PASSES: The Ron Hodgson crew now carry an impressive 7 and 2 won-loss record into Ardrossan on Sunday evening in their next tussle in Hwy. 14 action. Ardrossan return the next night for a 7 p.m. game at the Akinsdale arena ... However, not all news is good in the Pontiac camp. Defenceman Dwayne Wade is sidelined till early January with a dislocated shoulder. About the time he will return, reliable rumours have it his blueline partner Brad Hancock will be taking up residence in Calgary. Brad's departure will be a "hard pill to swallow", as the big No. 2 has been a perennial favorite in local hockey circles for several years ... Cliff Greening missed the last two games when an ailment landed him in hospital. Apparently Cliff will be ready for action by the weekend if all goes well ... Parayko more than deserved his big game against the Stingers as he has played well most of the season with little to show for it in points ... Middleton has caught fire in the last two league games picking up seven points, while Winquist boasts six ... and was easily one of three stars against Leduc ... Although the officiating has been superb so far, the men who blow the whistles have "blown a few" of the numbers on the game sheets involving goals and assists. However, control of the game still is the key factor on the ice lanes, and when it comes to infractions, there has been no problems whatsoever.

Nu-West Canadians come up victorious again

On Saturday night at the Perron Street Arena the Canadians outplayed and outscored the Fort Saskatchewan A & W Nickel Kings and came up with a 6-2 win after a hard fought game. The A & W Nickel Kings proved to be a good skating, well balanced and clean checking hockey club who never gave up as they played well in the first period and only allowed the Canadians one goal. In the second period the Canadians outpowered the Kings and scored four goals against one. Todd Ewen of St. Albert came out of this period with a hat trick. In the third period Fort Saskatchewan picked up again and the score of this period was one a-piece.

The Canadians as a whole played one of their better games with good position and passing plays, solid body checking and fine fore and back checking by the forwards. The defence came up with one of their best performances and Fort Saskatchewan goals were scored on two of the few occasions where the defence were left alone on Nickel Kings rushes. Brent Sedgewick played well in the Canadians goal and had no chances on the two goals scored on him as in both cases he was blinded by his own defencemen on hard slapshots.

At the five minute mark of the first period Emmanual Viveiros picked up a loose puck in the corner and after some fine stickhandling skated across the goalmouth and slipped the puck in off the far post. The rest of the period was very even as both goaltenders made nine saves.

Period two was only 10 seconds old when Todd Ewen banged in a Scott Rusnak rebound after a good play which saw Viveiros find Ewen free on the wing. Ewen's pass found Rusnak free in the slot. Ewen followed up and made the score. At the halfway mark of the period R. Shudra of the Nickel Kings found himself alone inside the blueline with one defenceman after a pass from B. Cox. Shudra fired a hard slapshot past Sedgewick who had had no chance as he was blinded by his own defenceman.

With seven minutes left in the period Todd Carnelley passed the puck back to Ole Graversen at the point. Graversen's shot missed the goal but Ewen was there and slapped in the puck as it was coming off the boards for his second goal.

Three minutes later Ewen again knocked in a rebound after a good shot from Rusnak. The play started when Viveiros, with good heads up play, saw both Rusnak and Ewen alone in the slot and layed a pass right on Rusnak's stick.

With only 35 seconds left in the period, Jimmey Hammett, after some good hustling, took the puck away from a Fort Saskatchewan player in the corner and came out in front next to the goal. With a good move pretending to pass the puck, he fooled G. Kalewchuck in Fort Saskatchewan goal and sneaked the puck in by the far post. Kalewchuck made 12 saves during this period while Sedgewick again came up with nine.

In the third period the Nu-West Canadians continued to put on the pressure with 17 shots on goal against eight by the A & W Nickel Kings. Both clubs managed to score one goal each. The first came after 15 minutes of play when Viveiros picked up the puck at centre ice and rushed across the blueline. Viveiros out-smarted the lone defenceman by passing to Carnelley on the wing. Carnelley's pass back to Viveiros left him alone with the goalie and he had no problem scoring with a low drive.

Only 30 seconds later the Nickel Kings scored the last goal of the game when R. Bauer's shot, after a scramble in front of the Canadian goal, was deflected into the net by a St. Albert player. S. Melnyk of Fort Saskatchewan was awarded an assis Only four minor penalties were handed out all to the Canadians.

Morinville IGA Bantams edge Barrhead

The hometown Morinville bantams beat Barrhead 7-6 in a well fought game on Sunday.

Dave Kegler opened the scoring for Morinville in the first period on a pass from Brad Hooper. Barrhead came right back and scored two goals to end the first frame.

In the beginning of the second, Marshall Lalonde picked up IGA's second goal with Murray Johnson and Brent Lewis getting the assists. With 1.40 left in the period, Johnson took a pass from Lewis and easily beat the Barrhead goalie.

Barrhead regained it's momentum early in the final frame with four goals to take a 6-3 lead. Morinville were not going to be outdone, as Lewis let a sizzling slapshot go that beat the rival netminder. Johnson added an assist.

The game looked to be a Barrhead victory, but with 1.21 remaining, Lewis popped one in on a pass from Kegler. That made it 6-5 in favor of Barrhead, and it set the stage for an extremely exciting finish.

Kegler got his second of the game from Lewis, and tht the game from Lewis, and that tied id up with 55 seconds left. Morinville didn't want a tie, and pressed on until eight seconds remained when Kegler found the net again. Paul Schafers and Lewis were awarded assists.

The match was well played by both teams, and only five penalties were handed out, three of them to Barrhead. If this game is any indication, these two teams will be involved in some more barnburners in the future.

Ski cross country

Pre-season conditioning: Part 1

CANSI, the Canadian Association of Nordic Ski Instructors, is a national association developed to standardize and improve cross country instruction in Canada. Now into its third season of operation, CANSI has 1150 registered members.

This winter, in addition to helping you in the track, CANSI can assist you through its column, Ski Cross Country. Throughout the season CANSI will present brief bi-weekly glimpses of all aspects of North America's fastest growing winter sport.$

Cross country skiing is easily learned. It's merely an extension of basic walking and running movements, but on snow, using poles and skis.

During the pre-season months simple, but efficient, exercises can prepare you for touring.

Develop your own program or join with friends two to three times per week, in sessions of 20 minutes. These sessions should include a mixture of walking and jogging, warm up and warm down exercises such as leg stretching, arm and trunk rotations.

Gradually increase length, distance, and energy use during sessions. Avoid hard sprinting and running. Build slowly.

Buy good running shoes, sufficiently cushioned to lessen the pounding of jogging. Shoes (35 to 45 dollars) should be warm and considered as a long-term investment for a season or two of conditioning.

When running avoid, if possible, cement or asphalt surfaces. Instead, select grass, sandy or soft earth areas.

What next?

Two American psychologists have set up an independent practice to deal only with the problems of "disturbed" pets.

Snowball?!?

In San Diego-they call it sandball.

In St. Albert-they call it snowball.

Call it what you wish, this innovative game brought to Canada by Carling O'Keefe Breweries is certain to make the winter more enjoyable.

Four people, (ladies are welcome) make up a team. Using a regulation softball bat and ball, the object of the game is to hit the ball over a line 60 feet from home plate, so that the opposition team of four players (wearing regulation softball gloves) cannot catch it.

The field of play, much smaller than a regulation softball field and with only three bases including home plate, is mapped out on any snow-covered area free of obstructions. Play begins once you've done this. You pitch or lob to your own team. Any hit over the line and not caught by the opposition puts a runner on base -- but there's no running. Another hit and the bases are loaded. If the batter hits the ball over the furthest fielders head, it's a home run.

Fielding is a challenge in the snow. Diving catches and snow-covered fielders are a regular occurrence. There is no restriction on uniforms, but warmth and freedom of movement are important.

It's an interesting game, and the best part about it is "Snowball is coming to St. Albert." For more information call Lennie Grew at 458-3483 or 428-4516.

UNICEF cards doubly important this year

With 1979 proclaimed the International Year of the Child (IYC), this year's line of UNICEF Christmas cards has more significance than in previous years. UNICEF's role will be to co-ordinate and encourage specific action programs to benefit children, and the sale of Christmas cards will be a major source of funds in attaining its objective: the permanent improvement of services to children everywhere.

Funds raised through the sale of cards will help to provide basic services in health care, nutrition, sanitation and education for some 350 million desperately needy children in more than 100 developing countries.

Amid predictions of new famines in Africa and Asia, UNICEF is expanding its programs. The UN agency is distributing more widely, vitamin and protein food supplements for children, educating nutrition workers in the proper preparation of nutritious native foods, and stimulating the development and production of simple technological aids for the preservation of foods.

The sale of UNICEF cards and stationery has far-reaching effects. The revenue from a single box of cards yields enough money for UNICEF to buy a pound of pea seeds for a community vegetable garden, 1,000 tablets of Vitamin C, or enough vaccine to immunize 20 children against polio.

This year's selection of cards and stationery will be bigger than ever, with emphasis focused on children. The theme of the 1979 engagement calendar, chosen to tie in with IYC, comprises reproductions of artworks, depicting children, from museums and private collections in 50 countries. The works range from ancient Greek, through Rembrandt, Monet and Fragonard, to contemporary masters. Weekly appointment pages are in English, French and Spanish.

WALL CALENDAR AVAILABLE

Another item, a wall calendar illustrated with original art by children around the world, notes important international holidays celebrated by member nations of the UN. Each holiday carries an informative description.

Traditional greeting cards with inscriptions in the five official UN languages are by artists from Canada, the United States, Belgium, Spain, Denmark and Switzerland. One of the highlights in this series is a box of 10 cards featuring works by five Canadian masters: "Habitants Driving Sleigh, 1860" (Cornelius Krieghoff); "A View of Quebec City, 1838" (Sir Richard G.A. Levinge); "Martin's Shop" (Ken Danby); "Snow in the Woods" (Tom Thomson); and "White Pine" (A.J. Casson). Available in previous years as single selections, the Canadian masters are now re-introduced in this special edition.

The 1978 selection also includes all-occasion note cards illustrated with the works of Canadian Indian artists, Roy Thomas, Jackson Beardy, Sam Ash, Norval Morrisseau and Clarence Wells.

Ocean houses bizarre creatures

By Donald J. Frederick
National Geographic News

Beachgoers and ocean travellers often take it all for granted, but beyond the thundering surf and beneath the restless waves lies a separate world full of wonder.

Plants that grow more than a foot a day, toothy, ferocious looking fish that glow in the dark, and manta rays that glide through the water with wingspreads of 12 feet -- these are a few of the things inhabiting earth's ocean wilderness.

The world's great ocean is actually one continuous interlocking sea that floods seven-tenths of the globe. The wonders of this vast domain flow through the pages of the National Geographic Society's new book, "The Ocean Realm."

NURSERIES OF THE SEA

Because of the amount and diversity of life they support, salt marshes -- those hospitable coastal waters -- have been called "the nurseries of the sea." An acre of Iowa farmland doesn't produce nearly as much vegetation as an acre of salt marsh, which collects nutrients from the sea as well as from the land.

Life also thrives along rocky ocean coastlines. Barnacles, mussels, and abalones cling to the rocks; surfperch and rockfish glide among swaying strands of kelp; eels, octopuses, and lobsters hide in dark holes on the bottom.

Giant kelp sometimes grows more than a foot a day, but sea urchins feeding on the base of the plant can devastate underwater kelp forests. Sea otters help control the urchins and also eat almost anything else available. In one day, an otter can put away 12 abalones, 20 sea urchins, 11 rock crabs, 60 kelp crabs, and 112 snails -- some 10 pounds of food.

The seafloor in even the deepest ocean depths supports life of one sort or another. Fearsome in appearance, many deep-sea creatures rarely grow longer than a foot, and some emit light, possibly to lure prey, to attract mates, or to frighten predators.

TEETH AID SURVIVAL

The two-inch long hatchet fish has bulging tubular eyes for searching out a meal; needle-sharp teeth line its huge gaping mouth. The four-inch fangtooth can hold a fish as large as itself in its cavernous mouth.

Surface dwellers such as the Portuguese man-of-war help nurture life all the way to the ocean floor. Their waste matter and even their tissues when they die slowly sink toward the bottom.

These bits of nutrients sometimes take months to reach the bottom, but they are an important ingredient of life at all ocean depths. As they descend, the particles are attacked by bacteria. The carbon and nitrogen in these particles are vital to the survival of the animals of the deep.

In the chill waters of the Arctic and Antarctic, small shrimp-like crustaceans called krill provide the major source of food for larger animals. They swim in schools so dense they can be detected by remote sensing satellites. It is estimated that between 800 million and five billion tons of krill exist in Antarctic waters alone.

Tomb yields treasure

By Donald J. Frederick
National Geographic News

A gold casket filled with bones of contention found in northern Greece has stirred up an archeological tempest in a 2,300-year-old tomb complex.

The two tombs and the bones date from the epic age of Philip II of Macedon, the father of Alexander the Great. Manolis Andronicos, professor of archeology at the University of Thessaloniki, who found the casket and directed excavations at the site near the village of Vergina, believes that one of the tombs was Philip's and the bones are his.

ARTIFACTS TELL STORY

"I'll be the first to announce any facts disproving my hypothesis that the tomb is Philip's," writes Dr. Andronicos in the July National Geographic. "But according to my findings the artifacts date from between 350 and 325 B.C., and Philip was the only Macedonian king to die in that period."

A magnificent golden quiver found in the tomb's antechamber prompts Dr. Andronicos to ask, "Who else but a king would own this?" Two pieces of leg armor found next to the quiver gave further evidence of a kingly presence. One was shorter than the other, and scholars know that Philip was lame.

Lack of definitive proof or specific inscriptions led some experts to challenge the professor's identification. The fact that the main chamber of the tomb was less lavish than might be expected also has raised doubts.

Dr. Andronicos counters that, since Philip was assassinated with the possible complicity of his fourth wife Olympias, the burial may have taken place hastily, without time for the usual finishing touches on the tomb's inner walls.

Whatever the ultimate identification, the find at Vergina remains a triumph of modern archeology.

FILLED WITH TREASURE

The excavation yielded a cornucopia of ancient treasures. Among them: four large wall paintings created by Greek artists of the fourth century B.C., gold, silver, bronze, and iron objects that are masterly examples of the ancient art of metalworking; and an array of weapons that fills in gaps of knowledge about Macedonian culture.

Even more remarkable was the discovery of four miniature ivory portraits -- each less than an inch high. Dr. Andronicos had no trouble in identifying two of the ivory miniatures.

"I had at first looked at these relics quickly," he recalls. "But when I examined one of the heads more closely, I could not believe my eyes: It was an excellent portrait of Philip. Here was a mature man with a somewhat fatigued expression, an injured eye, but clearly with great strength of character.

"Shaken by my discovery, I picked up a second head and searched it carefully. It seemed impossible that I could be mistaken; this was the most beautiful sculpture of Alexander the Great that I had ever seen."

Landscaping helps conserve energy

The weather in most parts of Canada is such a succession of contrasts, that we always seem to be doing battle with the elements by heating our homes or trying to cool them off.

However, we can make nature work for us. Landscaping can tame some of nature's influences on our homes and help save energy and money in the process.

In its book, The Conservation of Energy in Housing, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation offers advice to builders and developers on landscaping techniques that help conserve energy. Although somewhat technical in its details, the book's general advice for landscaping can be followed by any homeowner.

When deciduous trees, are planted on the south, southeast or southwest sides of a house, their leaves can shade the surrounding land and the house in summer. In winter, when they have dropped their foliage, the low winter sun can shine through the branches into the house providing warmth.

Evergreens should be planted on the north side of a house to help block the winds of fall, winter and spring.

Trees, shrubs, and ground cover, can lower summer temperatures because they release into the air the moisture stored in their foliage. By strategically locating such vegetation around your house, you can create some cooling that reduces the need for air conditioning.

But a word of caution is in order concerning tree-planting. Certain fast-growing trees such as poplars should be planted a sufficient distance from the house and any adjacent structures so that their root systems do not interfere with building foundations. Most trees drink a tremendous amount of moisture from the soil, a particularly important fact with certain types of clay soil. The resulting dehydration of the ground can cause unwanted settling of below-ground construction.

Vines growing on the walls of your house will help block solar heat in the summer. They are particularly effective on the west wall which is hit by direct sunlight during the hottest part of the summer day. Take care to plant only those varieties which will not damage the outside of your house.

While planning your yard with energy conservation in mind, don't forget that patios, walks, fences and other common structures have a part to play.

Light-colored sidewalks and patios can actually boost your home's heat by reflecting sunlight and heat towards the house. Foundation shrub or flower beds will help cut this reflective heat in the summer.

Well-placed fences or sunscreens can also help cool your house in the summer. They should be light-colored to reflect heat and louvered to permit breezes to pass through.

The secret to using all these natural and man-made energy-saving landscape features is intelligent planning. Trees, shrubs, fences and screens all have to be positioned with care so you get the desired effects of blocking unwanted heat and winds while admitting welcome breezes and sunlight.
